RELIGIOUS FREEDOM

Apropos of the efforts of the Lord's Day Alliance and other religious organizations to secure observance of Sunday as the Sabbath by national and state laws we print the following quotations from prominent statesmen and ministers:

There never was a greater lesson taught than the Golden Rule.—Warren G. Harding.

If you cannot reason or persuade a man into the truth, never attempt to force a man into it. If love will not compel him to come, leave him to God, the judge of all.—John Wesley.

Our defense is in the spirit which prizes liberty as the heritage of all men, in all lands everywhere. Destroy this spirit and you have planted the seeds of despotism at your own door.—Abraham Lincoln

Religion is essentially distinct from government, and exempt from its cognizance; and a connection between them is injurious to both.—James Madison.

There is not a precept in the New Testament to compel, by civil law, any man who is not a Christian to pay regard to the Lord's day more than to any other day.—Alexander Campbell. Leave the matter of religion to the family altar, the church, and the private school, supported entirely by private contribution. Keep the church and state forever separate.—U. S. Grant.

Every man who conducts himself as a good citizen, is accountable to God alone for his religious faith, and should be protected in worshipping God according to the dictates of his own conscience.—George Washington.

When religion is good it will take care of itself; when it is not able to take care of itself, and God does not see fit to take care of it, so that it has to appeal to the civil power for support, it is evidence to my mind that its cause is a bad one.—Benjamin Franklin.

Almighty God hath created the mind free; and all attempts to influence it by temporal punishments or burdens, or by civil incapacitations, tend only to beget habits of hypocrisy and meanness, and are a departure from the plan of the holy author of our religion.—Thomas Jefferson.

As to getting the law of the land to touch our religion, we earnestly cry, hands off! leave us alone! Your Sunday bill and all other forms of act-of-parliament religion seem to me to be all wrong. Give me a fair field and no favor, and our faith has no cause to fear.—Charles Spurgeon.

Home Coming Day Will Be big Event

Oregon Agricultural College, Corvallis, Oct. 14.—Beavers vs. Washington University "Sundogs" is the big bill that will be put on for the college alumni, newspaper men and other attendants at homecoming Saturday, November 3. The Rook Soph bag rush, varsity "O" procession, cafeteria lunch and annual ball are other events already scheduled.

The Beavers are credited by L. R. Gregory, Oregon sports writer who visited the campus and gave the team the once over, with being unusually strong in the line and very hard to score on. R. B. Rutherford, coach, is putting in hard ticks just now to develop a fast, hard-hitting back field. If the raw material develops according to promise the Beavers should have a slight edge on their rivals. All hands agree it will be a pretty game, well worth going far to see.

Oregon editors have been specially invited by Carl Lodell, manager of student activities and Sigma Delta Chi, journalistic fraternity, to be guests of the college for the day. At homecoming last year nearly 100 Oregon newspaper writers and publishers gathered to see the sports and look the college over.

Ford
THE UNIVERSAL CAR

New Sedan

Changes featured in the new Ford Sedan make it a better looking, roomier car.

A higher radiator with a trim apron at its base lends dignity befitting a closed car. The higher hood and enlarged cowl curving gracefully to the dash give a stylish sweep to its body lines, and afford additional leg room for occupants of the front seat.

All body fittings—window regulators, door grips, door latch levers, door lock, dome light—are finished in nickel. The upholstery carries a fine dark line on a soft brown background that does not easily show dirt or dirt. Silk window curtains that harmonize for the three rear windows enhance the style of the car and add to the comfort of its passengers. See the new Sedan and other new Ford body styles at our showroom.

These cars can be obtained through the Ford Weekly Purchase Plan.
