Birthday Picnic

The following Nyssaites enjoyed a big picnic at the Barrett home near Arcadia Sunday: C. C. Hunt and family, Mr. and Mrs. O. G. Bauer, Mrs. Agnes Hamaker and son Robert, S. D. Goshert and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. Boydell, Miss Eva Boydell, Ernest Wilson and family, Barney Wilson and family, and C. F. Eder New Plymouth. A picnic dinner consisting of ice cream, cake, fried chicken and everything was enthusiastically partaken of by the merry-makers. The occasion for all the excitement was the 51st anniversary of Mr. Barrett's birthday and his friends were helping him celebrate.

Brothers Meet Here

F. G. Holmes of Greeley, Colo., and L. E. Holmes of Modesto, Cal., with their wives and families, are visiting at the M. D. Holmes home. The two gentlemen are brothers, nephews of H. D., and hadn't seen each other for 12 years. F. G. arrived Sunday and L. E. Monday, and their meeting here was something in the nature of a coincidence, as neither knew the other was coming.

L. E. Holmes is looking for a location for a dairy ranch and is thoroughly familiar with the business, having been engaged in it for many years. He is greatly impressed with our wonderful crops and the manifold advantages of the Snake valley as a dairy section.

Entertains Bridge Club

Last Friday afternoon Mrs. Artie Robertson and Mrs. Harlan Diven entertained with a most enjoyable bridge party in honor of Mrs. Harry Coshert of Emmett, Idaho. Guests sufficient to make five tables were present. Mrs. Frank Hall won high score for the afternoon, with Mrs. Dean Smith winning the consolation prize and Mrs. Goshert was presented with a guest prize. Out of town guests besides Mrs. Goshert were Mrs. Arthur Cockrum of Ontario and Mrs. Ernest Diven of Wilder.

Growth of Fairs

In 1810, one fair; in 1925, two thousand fairs. In 1810, an attendance of about five thousand; in 1925 an estimated attendance of approximately twenty-five million. These figures, in a nut shell, tell the story of the marvelous growth of the American fair from the humblest beginning to its present status as an important factor in agricultural education. They are of special interest here, in view of the approaching Malheur County Fair, which will be held September 8-10.

Are You Up-to-Date In Livestock Raising

Raise livestock? Then you are probably one of the many readers of the Journal who are finding the Livestock Department an interesting and valuable part of this paper. And if you haven't "discovered" this important department, you haven't been getting all the value from each issue of the Journal.

In every issue Livestock offers many practical suggestions from breeders, veterinarians, feeders and marketers of farm animals. The source of most of these things you will find there is the U. S. Department of Agriculture and various colleges of agriculture and experiment stations in all parts of the country. There is no better general source of livestock information than these, and every year millions of dollars are spent in efforts to improve all phases of the industry and in the compiling of data and statistics.

Read Livestock today! You'll find it packed with valuable information.

Auto Thief Captured

Vale, Ore.—Lawrence Worley of Baker is being held in the county jail on an auto theft charge. After a spirited chase by Traffic Officer J. Robertson and Sheriff C. W. Glenn last week a runabout owned by Gordon Ray of Ontario was recovered abandoned by the thief, 10 miles above Vale.

Realizing the chase was a hot one, Worley took to the sagebrush hills when he saw the officers closing in on him. The youth evaded capture during the night but was caught the next morning by Sheriff Glenn. Worley is about 16 years of age.

Hard Work to Save Dog

A valuable fox terrier was rescued after being imprisoned among the huge bowlders on the mountainside between Llanfachreth and Trawsfynydd, Wales. Experienced miners were engaged three days blasting the rock, and after that it took nine men to remove the big bowlders. Food had been lowered to the dog by means of a rope.

Beauty Before Utility

Stenographers are often engaged for esthetic as well as utilitarian reasons. It is rarely, however, that the latter are completely ignored, as was the case in an advertisement that appeared in a New York newspaper. "Wanted," it read, "a stenographer. Must be good-looking. Knowledge of typing not necessary."

To the Citizens of Malheur County

The State of Oregon has chartered the FIRST MORTGAGE SAVINGS & LOAN ASSOCIATION, with head offices in Ontario, to conduct a Savings & Loan Association under the supervision and control of the state.

The service of a Savings & Loan Association under the Oregon plan is to encourage Thrift through the sale of Savings Shares upon which deposits are made monthly, or in a lump sum. Each depositor is given a Savings Pass Book in which deposits are credited. Whenever the deposits, together with the earnings credited, amount to the maturity of the shares subscribed, the full accumulations are paid in cash. In the meantime a depositor has liberal withdrawal or borrowing privileges in the event he or she wishes to use a part of the funds on deposit.

The funds accumulated from deposits are loaned by the Association on first mortgage security, principally upon homes. The borrower, in every instance, must furnish sufficient sound security to qualify the loan and, without exception, pay off the loan monthly. Each loan becomes continually better as the borrower is thus reducing his mortgage indebtedness each month, with the security remaining the same.

The funds of depositors are not protected with a single mortgage but with all owned by the Association. There is no better security than many small, sound mortgages on improved home property.

The State of Oregon holds all mortgages of the Association as an absolute protection to all depositors. THERE HAS NOT BEEN A DOLLAR LOST IN EASTERN OREGON IN 35 YEARS UNDER THIS PLAN.

This plan of saving and loaning money is 100 years old. The Savings & Loan Associations were the originators of the amortization loan system, which is the basis of the Federal Land Bank Loan System. They are the fosterers of the greatest thrift system which has ever been evolved. Today more than seven million Americans have deposited with this associations the tremendous sum of four billions of dollars.

WHAT A SAVINGS & LOAN ASSOCIATION MEANS TO YOUR COMMUNITY.

- It creates thrift among those who are not now SAVERS.
- It gives the ambitious man or woman in your community a convenient way to home ownership and all the pleasures that a home makes possible.
- It provides work for the building trades, business for the building material concerns. It brings prosperity to the merchant, the doctor, the lawyer. It builds solid progress for the community and everyone who lives and labors among you.

The age and size of a Savings & Loan Association is not an issue as a matter of competition. Under the Oregon plan a Savings & Loan Association is as safe when it is young with small deposits as it is when it is old with extensive investments. THE STATE OF OREGON PROTECTS ALL DEPOSITORS EQUALLY, REGARDLESS OF AGE OR SIZE.

The First Mortgage Savings & Loan Association is Malheur County's own institution, protected by the state.
