Dairymen, Attention

The County Agent's office is anxious to get in touch with dairymen wishing to have a regular monthly cow testing service for their herds. J. B. Hallman, one of the official testers of the Weiser-Payette Cow Testing association, is going to be able to give Malheur county enough time to handle approximately ten herds. Four or five have already been secured, but there is still opportunity for others who are interested. It is hoped that with this sort of a start, by seeing the county will be able to support a cow testing association of its own.

Quoting from a bulletin issued by the New York State College of Agriculture, "We find that a cow testing association calls out the boarders and saves the good cows. It shows that records, combined with continuous culling, increase the average of milk and cow production. It does away with the danger of breeding from low test cows. It demonstrates the importance of a purebred sire. Its records increase the value of good cows sold for milk production. It takes the guess work out of dairying by furnishing reliable figures to determine the value of each cow. It keeps the dairymen in close touch with most improved methods of milk production.

METHODIST COMMUNITY NOTES

The services next Sunday will be held at the regular hour—Church school at 9:45 a. m., Junior church at 11 a. m., also the regular morning worship and sermon by the pastor at 11 o'clock. The evening service—Young People's study hour at 7 p. m. An evangelistic service at 8 p. m.

The revival meetings at Apple Valley conducted by Rev. Luscomb closed Wednesday evening. The services were of great blessing to the community. Thirty Nyssians attended the services Sunday evening and all report a very good time. Brother Luscomb will assist the pastor in special meetings here in Nyssa, beginning January 2, 1927. May we plan our work so that we may be able to attend every service, and shall we not work and pray to that end we may have a very profitable meeting, which shall benefit every home in the entire community.

The regular official meeting will be held next Tuesday evening at 7:30. The place will be announced later. All the officers of the church are urged to attend.

Remember the revival meetings will begin Sunday, January 2, 1927.

Stomach So Bad
Can't Even Eat Fruit

"For years was badly constipated and troubled with gas after eating. Could not eat fruit and many other things. Adierika has done me good—can now eat anything." (signed) W. H. Fletcher. Adierika removes gas and often brings astonishing relief to the stomach. Brings out a surprising amount of old waste matter you never thought was in the system. Stops that full bloated feeling and makes you enjoy eating. Excellent for chronic constipation.

Band Music in
All Schools, AimPresident of Federation of Music Clubs Outlines Plans of Her Organization.

Elkhart, Ind.—A band or orchestra in every public school in the country is the goal of the Federation of Music Clubs, according to information received by the Conn Music Center here.

"Music has too long been considered a mere accomplishment rather than a necessary part of our educational system," said Mrs. Edgar Stillman Kelley, national president of the federation, in outlining the plans of her organization. "Fortunately the delusion is now beginning to give way and the true value of tone in educational work is being more generally acknowledged. The value of teaching instrumental music in all schools can scarcely be overestimated. The Federation of Music Clubs is working enthusiastically for the inclusion of bands and orchestras as well as glee clubs in the schools because the officers of this, the largest musical organization in the world, are convinced of the worth of this procedure."

"The public schools are preparing our business leaders of the future, why not our musical leaders? Welcome will be the day when every school in the land will give credit for executive as well as theoretic music. We will then be training the men and women who will later give America a great music of its own. Not every child so trained will make music their life-work but all of them will be bettered by the training."

MANY STATES HAVE
BAND TAX LAWSQuestion Put Up to Voters
With Provision for Repeal.

Elkhart, Ind.—Only 22 of 48 states in the Union are without laws, allowing taxation for the support of municipal bands. It is shown in a survey by the Conn Music Center. Even in states without such laws the survey shows that a number of cities have of their own volition appropriated funds to provide free band concerts for their citizens.

The 28 states having laws under which municipalities may appropriate funds for music either by action of the common council or after authorization of voters are: Alabama, California, Colorado, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Montana, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, Texas, Utah, Vermont, West Virginia, South Carolina, North Carolina and Wisconsin. Movements for similar legislation are now under way in Arizona, Florida, Idaho, Kentucky and New Mexico.

Iowa was the pioneer state in band legislation, and the laws of many of the states now having such statutes on the books are modeled after the Iowa plan. That law provides that the band tax may be levied only after it has received the sanction of the voters. The question is submitted for vote upon petition of a certain percentage of the qualified voters of the towns and cities. Provision is made for repeal of the tax in the same way.

Schools Pushing
Music to ForeAmerica Destined to Lead
World, Says Frederick
Neil Innes.

That the public school band movement is bringing America to the fore in the music world, is the belief of Frederick Neil Innes, director of the Conn National School of Music, Chicago, and internationally known band leader.

"America is destined to lead the world in music," says Innes. "It does not yet rank with Germany, France, Hungary, Italy or England, but we are climbing. Fully eighty per cent of the high schools have some musical organization, an orchestra or a band, or both. Music in the public schools will give America this coveted musical supremacy."

Mr. Innes further believes that the time is near at hand when even the smallest community will have its band. He thinks that when this condition is brought about that it will be due largely to the incentive given musical training by the public schools of the nation. "The modern school is as proud when a musical championship is won by their band or orchestra as it is when their football heroes go down the field to glory in every game they play," he says.

"The band or orchestra is vastly superior to the vocal class," says Innes, "because the boy in the adolescent stage simply will not sing. He may be compelled to go through the motions, but he will not actually sing. He refuses for the simple reason that he has no voice to sing with. Give such a lad a trombone or a cornet, or any other instrument of the band and his musical progress will astound even himself."

This Town of 20
Has 44-Piece Band

A 20-man town with a 44-piece band has been discovered by the Conn Music Center at Elkhart, Ind.

Forest Grove, Mich., is the town. The entire population of 20 is housed in five dwellings. Small boys throw stones from one end of the town to the other. Two stores serve the needs of the community. Yet Forest Grove's band numbers 44 pieces.

The hamlet lacked paved streets and population. It was not even mentioned on the maps, yet the "musical urge" was there. Several of the townsmen knew something of music, as did several of the boys on the surrounding farms. There were lots of others "raring to blow a horn. A meeting was arranged, attended by a 100 per cent representation of the town and by farm boys within a radius of many miles. The band came into being overnight.

Rehearsals are faithfully attended. "Band night" sees the one street automobiles, and a jest, has become a surrounding commu-

Radio Lusting
Music BusinessGiving Nation Biggest Crop of Tune Purveyors, Musicians Find.

Elkhart, Ind.—Radio—feared in its infancy as sounding the death-knell of creative American music—is really giving the nation its greatest crop of tune purveyors.

This is the opinion of a large number of music men and musicians who have just ended their annual convention at the Conn Music Center here.

"It is the death blow," many musicians said five years ago when America awoke to find the lusty infant radio on its doorstep. "Our children will cease to create. They will only listen."

But from the convention delegates—and they represented every section in the United States—it was definitely learned that radio has done no such thing. The music men submitted facts in support of their new contention.

Heads of music schools report an attendance 100 per cent higher than that of the pre-radio era.

Music house owners report a sale of small instruments more than twice as large as that of five years ago.

The city of Chicago contributed more evidence. Where in 1923, only 3,000 men and women were enrolled in the Chicago Federation of Musicians, on the 1926 roster the 6,000 mark has been passed.

Follow Creative Instincts.

"Every time a competent band or orchestra broadcasts a radio program another musician is born," said James F. Boyer, supervisor of the Conn Music Center. "The normal boy or girl has, above everything else, the creative instinct."

"What happens after the circus comes to town? Why, immediately thereafter there is a trapeze in every shed in the town, and a juvenile circus in progress on every vacant lot. These youngsters are never satisfied with the role of spectators. They must take part."

"And so it has been with music. The American boy hears an instrumental solo on the radio. Perhaps he hears the player is paying his way through college with his instrument. One of his playmates has had a horn for a few months and he is talking of organizing a juvenile band. Right on the spot we have another embryo musician. And once music enters a neighborhood there is no stopping it."

Shy of the Piano.

"Your average boy fights shy of the piano and the singing lesson. He considers these fields for girls. But just give him a horn, a saxophone, a cornet, a trumpet, a trombone or any of the other instruments of the 'brass band' and see what happens."

Tasty and Effective

Apple posset is excellent for a cold. Boil three ounces of stale bread crumbs in milk to a paste, sweeten with honey or glycerin, and add one teaspoonful of ground ginger and half a teaspoonful of cinnamon. Stir in the pulp of three juicy apples which have been slowly baked till tender. Serve hot.

Said petition prays:

1. That upon the filing of the petition, notice be given as provided by law, and that a hearing be held by the board of directors as by law provided.

2. That upon the hearing to be held as prayed, the board of directors hear such evidence as may be offered, and that upon the final determination thereof the board of directors find and determine that it is for the best interests of said district that the lands mentioned in the petition, and the whole thereof, be excluded from the district and that the board thereupon enter an order excluding said described premises from the boundaries of said district.

3. That upon the hearing the board find and determine that the lands of the petitioner are not susceptible to be irrigated and could not and would not be irrigated by the construction of the works by reason of the fact that the same are permanently devoted to uses other than agriculture, horticulture and viticulture, and that for that reason the lands should not be included in said district, and that therefore the board of directors should enter an order excluding said lands.

WHEREFORE, Notice is hereby given to all persons interested in or who may be affected by such change of the boundaries of the district, to appear at the office of the board of directors of the Kingman Colony Irrigation District on the 11th day of December, 1926, at the hour of 5:00 o'clock p. m., and show cause in writing, if any there be, why the change in the boundaries of said district, as proposed in said petition should not be made.

By order of the board of directors of Kingman Colony Irrigation District.
