ABOUT WOMEN

Miss Nellie Marie Davis, member of the women's rifle team of the University of Kansas, made an average score of 99.8 in a recent match.

Miss Edna Hoyeyall of St. Louis, daughter of America's oldest balloonist, has made two balloon flights, and hopes to make five more one of which must be made alone, to secure her pilots license.

Miss Iris Cummins, the first woman to take an engineering course at the University of Dubin, has become an official surveyor.

Mrs. Edgar S. Kelly of Oxford, O., was recently re-elected president of the National Federation of Music Clubs.

Mrs. Elizabeth Gilmer of New Orleans, better known by her pen name of Dorothy Dix, was given the honorary degree of doctor of laws by Tulane University.

Miss Helen Dosk, apretty store clerk of Ardmore, Pa., wrote to Commander Byrd, requesting that he take her on his trans-Atlantic flight.

Miss Violet Codlery, 24, has started from England with three companions for an automobile trip around the world.

WHAT'S NEW?

X-ray is being used to detect imitations of old paintings.

A new machine converts mill ends and scrap wood into box boards.

Artificial pearls are being manufactured from the scales of herring, shad and sardines.

A new potabe handsaw, operated by compressed air, saws wood, stone or metal with great rapidity.

An Italian invention is said to type radio messages on ordinary paper.

Passenger coaches equipped with roller bearings, which make riding smoother and require less locomotive power to pull, are being put into service.

An English process for making rayon fireproof has been developed.

HONORING LINDBERGH

Never before in the world's history have such honors been bestowed upon a private citizen as have come to Charles A. Lindbergh, hero of the New York to Paris flight. In fact, seldom if ever have such demonstrations greeted an individual of any rank.

Lindbergh is the first person other than a President of the United States or a foreign ruler to receive the national military salute of 21 guns.

The new Lindbergh air mail stamp is the first United States postage stamp to be printed in honor any man while he was still alive. He was also presented with a specially prepared State Department "white book," containing messages of congratulation from rulers and governments throughout the world, and the replies to them, with a record of the medals awarded him.

Never before have such demonstrations been accorded any American in foreign lands, and his home-coming receptions exceeded in enthusiasm those which welcomed the return of Dewey from Manila and Pershing from France.

It is gratifying to observe that throughout all the wild acclaim and shower of unprecedented honors Lindbergh has kept his head. In spite of his leap from obscurity a few weeks ago to his present fame as the world's best known and most admired figure, he is still the same modest, unassuming boy that he has always been.

His daring flight proved his dauntless courage and consummate skill, while his subsequent demeanor has demonstrated his sterling character. In spite of these admirable qualities he has set for the youth of America an example of inestimable value.

PAPER REFLECTS TOWN

It is recognized that a town may be rather accurately judged so far as its progressiveness is concerned, by the way in which it supports its newspaper. In other words, a creditable and prosperous looking newspaper may be safely taken as an indication of a live and enterprising community.

The reason is plain. A live town naturally demands a representative newspaper or newspapers, and there will always be found someone to meet the demands. Almost without exception it may be found that a town has just about as good a newspaper as it deserves; sometimes better than it deserves.

In this connection a quotation from a recent address by James J. O'Shaughnessy, executive secretary of the American Association of Advertising Agencies, is to the point. In the light of his many years of experience in dealing with newspapers, he says:

"I have been widely quoted as saying that the village weekly newspaper is the cornerstone of American journalism. No one has disputed that assertion. Modern communities large and small, grow and prosper in the wake of their newspapers. If their newspapers are prosperous, retail business prospers and real estate appreciates in value.

Anyway Chamberlain landed closer to Berlin than Foch did.

Atlanta's chamber of commerce secretary is fittingly named Barker.

Many who consider themselves leaders will follow a golf ball all day.

"Klan to fight Al Smith"—Headline. Another keen political observer on the job.

Father's Day was probably first suggested by a family that was fishing for a new car.

An Austrian cut the fingers off two of his brothers. Another case of severed relations.

It is easy to understand that the $1,750,000 loan for flood relief was easily floated.

Although Lindbergh was born on February 2, he has nothing in common with the ground hog.

Duty on Swiss cheese has been increased 50 percent, so we may expect to see the holes made larger.

Mr. Mencken will doubtless consider it appropriate that the new president of the Rotarians is named Sapp. The rubber paving being put down in Melbourne, Australia, will make it pretty soft for the pedestrian.

It is said that the habit of taking snuff is being revived in Czechoslovakia, where it will doubtless be a great aid to pronunciation.

When Eve voiced her misgivings about taking the first bite, the serpent probably said, "Applesauce."

BONITA

Abe Lewellen was riding for cattle early in the week. He spent Monday night with Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Williams. He reports that Mrs. Lewellen had a light paralytic stroke about two weeks ago, but seems to be recovering. Mrs. Lizzie McKay, a daughter from Prairie City is at home caring for her mother at present. John Lewellen, his son is at the Cow Creek ranch a good deal of the time by himself, milking 25 cows, feeding 20 calves and 100 hogs. Some of us Cow Valley folks are working pretty hard.

Lark Bilyeu came home from Portland Tuesday. He is very much improved in health. He came up from Ontario with Ernest Locey.

Mike Needham and Mrs. and Miss Pritchard of Brogan were up on the 26th. Mr. Needham traded his property on the Rinehart to Eugene and Louis Pratt for cattle and turkeys.

Louis Pratt came up Sunday from Jamieson with Mr. and Mrs. Alfred L. Guerber and family who went on up to Juniper mountain, to start his sheep to the railroad. They took their lunch with them making a picnic of the occasion. Mr. Guerber expects to leave for Chicago about July 2.

We had a few warm days succeeded by cool ones. We don't believe B.V.D.'s ever will become stylish up here this summer.

Bonita is very proud of Miss Leah Galloway's high examination average. Our school is small and the district remote, but we can produce apt pupils.

One hundred head of horses passed through here Thursday from Lower Willow Creek on the way to Hereford, with Glen Thayer in charge. There were a number of valuable horses in the bunch, some being destined for government use. They stayed Friday night at Ern Locey's.

Akin to Lying

Flattering of others, and boasting of ourselves may be referred to as lying; the one to please others, and puff them up, with self-conceit, the other to gain more honor than is due to ourselves.
