USING OUR LEISURE

Today the average person has more leisure than he had a generation ago, consequently he has more opportunities for cultural pursuits, if his inclinations are in that direction.

The average work-day is shorter, due to the ability to produce more through labor-saving devices, and thus even the manual laborer is enabled to share in the leisure which an advancing civilization has made possible.

How to suitably employ leisure time is consequently becoming a rather important problem, the solution of which must naturally be found by each individual for himself. Spare time may well be devoted in part to studies which lead to advancement in one's occupation or profession, or even to preparation for a more desirable calling. Correspondence courses afford many opportunities in these directions.

For those who have found their life work and are succeeding in it, leisure offers the means of broadening the mental vision by a better acquaintance with the masterpieces of literature and art, by developing a better appreciation of music, obtaining a better grasp of national and world affairs—in short, it enables one to live a fuller life.

For attaining these ends almost unlimited facilities are within the reach of practically everyone, through books, newspapers, magazines, motion pictures and radio. By the judicious use of these, entertainment and education may go hand in hand.

The future happiness and prosperity of most of us depend largely upon how we employ our spare time.

CHRISTMAS NIGHT!

There's a glow in the air, a stir in the street,
That comes but once in a year,
There's a tone in the voice of friends you greet
That echoes of hope and cheer,
And the fleet-footed days hasten on to the time
When, glowing in dawning skies,
The gladdest of days and most sublime,
The Christmas morn shall rise.

Each shop and each store of the thronged-filled mart
Its choicest treasures displays
And each to the brightness adds its part
Of the greatest of all the year's days.
And the eager crowds as they move along
A festive scene supply,
For joy in each heart is pulsing strong,
The joy of Christmas night!

In the windows the holly wreaths of green
With berries red appear,
And even the air seems more serene
As though it were listening to hear
That wondrous oratorio
On that first Christmas night,
As angels sang in the long ago
When Bethlehem's star shone bright.—M. T. Suddith, New York Times.

Politicians hope that Mr. Hoover will not display war-time food economy when it comes to distributing pie.

A new chain of 1,000 drug stores is being organized. Some of them, it is understood, will carry a few drugs.

The city of Dinkelsbuhl, Bavaria, has celebrated its 1,000th anniversary. A long time to put up with such a name.

A London rag-picker died leaving an estate worth $750,000. He must have specialized in discarded men's garments.

It is said that with a new balloon tire punctures are "altogether improbable." Depending, we assume, on the improbability of hitting a nail just right.

TURKEYS MINUS THE PIN FEATHERS NET GROWER $11 MORE

(From the Malheur Enterprise)
"No. 2," sang out a grader here Saturday and a grower of several straight, fat turkeys was plunged into gloom.

"Why, grade him 2?" he asked.
"You forgot to pick him," was the reply as the grader called attention to numerous pin feathers.

"Give me another chance," and a smile replaced a frown when the grader agreed. When the turkeys came in again they were picked clean, they rated No. 1 price, and the grower has $11 more for Christmas money.

As a result of careful grading, the association pool has the best reputation in the turkey field. The growers benefit. Receivers again stated here Saturday that the turks delivered here were the best lot of the season.

Brogan Having Christmas Tree

The Christmas spirit at Brogan will be expressed in a joint gathering of church people, school children and Parent-Teacher association at the community hall Saturday. School children will be the entertainers, under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. James O. Wiles and Mrs. Isobel Boston, teachers. Santa will have a Christmas treat for all of the youngsters.

CROSS STATE RAIL WILL BE AWAKENING OF SLEEPING EMPIRE

W. L. Teutsch of O. A. C. is the author of an article in the Oregon Farmer, which is in the interest of the cross state railroad that southeastern and central Oregon is petitioning for. The writer declared that the railroad will mean the development of this vast section, "a great sleeping empire." He again calls attention to the productivity of irrigated farm lands, to the resources of vast area suited to the raising of livestock.

HURLEY NOMINATED

Senator McNary was advised Tuesday by the department of justice that it has approved and is forwarding to the White House for transmission to the senate the nomination of Julien A. Hurley for re-appointment as United States district attorney for the Fairbanks, Alaska, district. Mr. Hurley received the first appointment about eight years ago while living in Vale.

Well we hope everybody has all the installments paid on last year's Christmas presents.
