

SKAGGS SAFEWAY STORES

Distribution Without Waste

Ontario, Oregon

Haying and Harvest are here. For the housewife's convenient quick meals, always see a Safeway man and let him plan your menu.

Safeway Safest Savings

Ham Swift's Premium, with that old Southern flavor, half or whole. Lb. - 29 1-2 c.	Soap A white Laundry Soap, with a million bubbles. 10 bars, 33c	Bacon Fancy cured. Pound, 24 1-2c.
---	--	---

Chocolate Candy

We just received a large shipment of the old fashion Bon Bon Chocolates.
2 lbs - - - - - 45c

Sugar 100 lb bag C and H Cane Sugar. Buy now before the tariff raises. Bag 100 lbs. $5.79	Sardines In a pure olive oil. 3 cans, 25c	Malt Buckeye Hop, flavored for the best bread. Large can, 69c
---	--	--

We want your eggs; the same to us --- cash or trade, 26c

You should see our windows before you buy

KOOPMAN AND BROWN WINNERS IN ELECTION

At the annual school election held at the high school building Monday Fred Koopman was re-elected to succeed himself as director and Glenn Brown was re-elected to succeed himself as clerk. Mr. Brown had no opposition for the office of clerk, but a spirited contest developed over the office of school director, the opposing candidates being Fred Koopman and Charles Garrison. The former won by a vote of 57 to 21. This will make Mr. Koopman's fourth year as director. A. H. Boydell being next in line of promotion automatically becomes chairman of the board, while Mr. Koopman has to go back to the foot of the class and once more climb the ladder of fame.

W. C. T. U. MEETS

The W. C. T. U. met Tuesday afternoon in the Methodist church basement. Mrs. Brooks and Mrs. Walter Marshall were hostesses. Mrs. Carl Setter had charge of the devotionals and Mrs. Klinkenberg the program. A pleasant afternoon was spent and much business taken care of.

NEW SERVICE STATION UNDER CONSTRUCTION

Ground was broke Saturday for the new filling station on the corner of First and Main streets and work of construction is proceeding rapidly under the direction of Contractor Geo. Brinson and it will be ready for service soon. It will be built of reinforced concrete, with a Spanish tile metal roof. The cost of the building is estimated at $4000. It will be a fully equipped and modern building and according to Mr. Brinson will be the most up-to-date filling station between here and Boise. Mr. Lawrence of the Lawrence filling station will occupy the building.

Glasgow traces its history

Glasgow traces its history in tradition to the little wooden church which Keatigern, apostle to the Scots, built on the banks of Molendinar about 560 A. D. Nothing is known of the town for more than 500 years until David, prince of Cumbria, the future King David I, in 1116, re-established the see of Glasgow and rebuilt its church.

Razors in Ancient Times

Razors have been in use from very remote times. They were known to the ancient Egyptians, the Greeks and the Romans and we find mention made of them in so old a record as the Book of Numbers.

POWELL GARAGE WILL SOON BE COMPLETED

The new Powell garage which has been drawing so much attention because of its attractiveness, will be ready for business the latter part of this week. This garage is modern throughout and is heated by hot air. It is equipped with automatic oil and wash racks. The new stucco front adds much to the appearance of Main street and the garage will be a credit to the town. Besides the modern equipment it has a large show window in which the Nash car will be exhibited.

INTERESTING MEETING

The meeting of the Civic Club was unusually interesting this week. The program was in honor of James Whitcomb Riley and consisted of readings and songs and James W. Riley play. There was a discussion on the flower show to be put on in Nyssa sometime in August. The meeting was held in the basement of the Methodist church, with Mrs. Joe Smith, Mrs. Eddie Powell and Mrs. J. J. Sarazin as hostesses.

"Tiffany" Diamonds

An authority on diamonds says that there are certain diamonds that contain a slight tinge of milkiness and some that when exposed to the ultra violet ray or bright sunlight and then taken into a dark room will glow for as much as five minutes or sometimes more. This does not depend upon the quality of the diamond. This variety of diamond was named the "Tiffany" in 1894.

Beets Thrive Under Light

By use of intense artificial light that rivals sunshine a biologist of France succeeded in growing three generations of beets in the past year. The powerful illumination caused the plants to go to seed more rapidly and the seed to germinate in much less time than usual.

Ixion

According to the mythology of the Greeks, Ixion was the king of a tribe in Thessaly until he was made insane because he had murdered his father-in-law. Zeus later cured him and allowed him to live in Olympus. It was not long, however, until he fell in love with Hera, the wife of Zeus, who, finding out all about it, tied Ixion to a fiery wheel and left him spinning.

OLD-TIME NYSSAITE WRITES FROM FAR-OFF SHANGHI, CHINA

Thomas McGinnis, an old-timer in Nyssa and vicinity, has many friends here who will be interested in the following letter received from him this week from Shanghai, China:

Shanghai, China, May 31, 1929. Gate City Journal, Nyssa, Oregon.

Dear Sirs: I used to live in that country, but left there in 1915 and have been to Alaska four times and then here. I am in the commission business, but can't get used to the country here, as it is different from any place I have ever been in. Though the people are honest and you can trust them, there don't seem to be much law here and not much crime and hardly any graft among the natives. But you have got to watch the whites here all the time. I am going to leave here though as soon as I can and may come back there, but I first have to dispose of my business and perhaps will do that to my partner, as some times we have lots of money and sometimes not so much, as it is very uncertain here owing to the times. I don't know whether you have had times there or not, but we have here, as it is not so good here as it was last season.

I get a paper from the States once in a while and the last one told about the Owyhee irrigation dam. I am glad the United States is going to irrigate the sagebrush country. That ought to make good times for Nyssa and I would like to be up there and would come if I could. Would like to see my old friends there, but I guess I would not know the place now but might run across some of old pals whom I wish well. I have a warm place in my heart for the people of Nyssa and wish them all the good in the world.

Thomas McGinnis.

No Gratuitous Reformer

My neighbor has been very rude. But I shall not berate him. Why should I generously intrude and try to educate him?

Some Ordeal

Fozzleton—I took my wife to a lecture last evening—and it was some ordeal for her all right.
Bozzleton—Some ordeal for her?
Fozzleton—Yes, she had to listen, didn't she?

Heredity

Editor—I believe that youngster of ours is cut out for my profession.
His Wife—Why so, dear?
Editor—Everything he gets his hand on he throws into the wastebasket.

Comport

John—Did you bathe much while you were down South?
Mac—Yes, but when it was too hot and stuffy to put on a bathing suit we just lounged in our ordinary things.

In the Suburbs

"That's my place you see over there—the house and the garage close by."
"Which is the garage, old man?"

SCARCELY THE SAME

She—Didn't you say her acting was just lovely?
He—No—I said she was a lovely actress.

Not Properly Preserved

Their acquaintance ripened into love. And then, alas, it got quite over-ripe; at least there came a time when it seemed all rot.

The Why of It

"What is the insurance, little Gage?"
"It's keeping a man poor all his life so's he can die rich."

Great

First Lawyer—Our client is reaching for his pocketbook.
Second Lawyer—Yes, that's a notion for a new trial.

Self-Defense

"The cook has left," said the housewife.
"I don't blame her," answered the tired business man. "She couldn't be expected to go on eating the food she was delivering from the kitchen."—Washington Star.

Not Wanted

Mrs. Newrich—What's that rough-looking plant?
Gardener—That belongs to the Cactus family.
Mrs. Newrich—Tell them to take it home.

Looking and Listening

"I suppose all you statesmen will be glad to see one another again."
"Yes," answered Senator Sorghum.
"We'll be glad to see one another, but in a little while we won't be so rejoiced to hear one another."—Washington Star.

NO TROUBLE TO TURN

"She has a head like a door-knob."
"How come?"
"Any man can turn it."

The Next Step

Fair Client—And when he refused to marry me I made up my mind to see you.
Her Lawyer—All right, now make up your face to see the jury.

No Success

She—You're two hours late. What's your excuse?
He—I have no excuse. I've been outside two hours trying to think of

BUNGLED IT

Henry—I hear Walter's engagement's been broken off. How's that, old man?
Herbert—He was trying to tell Phyllis how time stood still whenever he looked in her eyes, and it appears the silly ass didn't get it quite right. At any rate, he gave her to understand, that, in his opinion, her face would stop a clock.

Poetical Division

Stave is another word for stanza or verse of a poem or song. Since a carol is literally a song celebrating the nativity of Christ, it is quite appropriate that the subdivisions be termed staves.

Busy Bees

A New Haven professor declares that the bee is not as busy as it pretends to be. Try interlocking with it, and one end of the insect, at least, will be found to be all business.

"She has a head like a door-knob."
"How come?"
"Any man can turn it."

The Next Step

Fair Client—And when he refused to marry me I made up my mind to see you.
Her Lawyer—All right, now make up your face to see the jury.

No Success

She—You're two hours late. What's your excuse?
He—I have no excuse. I've been outside two hours trying to think of

BUNGLED IT

Henry—I hear Walter's engagement's been broken off. How's that, old man?
Herbert—He was trying to tell Phyllis how time stood still whenever he looked in her eyes, and it appears the silly ass didn't get it quite right. At any rate, he gave her to understand, that, in his opinion, her face would stop a clock.

Poetical Division

Stave is another word for stanza or verse of a poem or song. Since a carol is literally a song celebrating the nativity of Christ, it is quite appropriate that the subdivisions be termed staves.

Busy Bees

A New Haven professor declares that the bee is not as busy as it pretends to be. Try interlocking with it, and one end of the insect, at least, will be found to be all business.

"She has a head like a door-knob."
"How come?"
"Any man can turn it."

The Next Step

Fair Client—And when he refused to marry me I made up my mind to see you.
Her Lawyer—All right, now make up your face to see the jury.

No Success

She—You're two hours late. What's your excuse?
He—I have no excuse. I've been outside two hours trying to think of

BUNGLED IT

Henry—I hear Walter's engagement's been broken off. How's that, old man?
Herbert—He was trying to tell Phyllis how time stood still whenever he looked in her eyes, and it appears the silly ass didn't get it quite right. At any rate, he gave her to understand, that, in his opinion, her face would stop a clock.

Poetical Division

Stave is another word for stanza or verse of a poem or song. Since a carol is literally a song celebrating the nativity of Christ, it is quite appropriate that the subdivisions be termed staves.

Busy Bees

A New Haven professor declares that the bee is not as busy as it pretends to be. Try interlocking with it, and one end of the insect, at least, will be found to be all business.

"She has a head like a door-knob."
"How come?"
"Any man can turn it."

The Next Step

Fair Client—And when he refused to marry me I made up my mind to see you.
Her Lawyer—All right, now make up your face to see the jury.

No Success

She—You're two hours late. What's your excuse?
He—I have no excuse. I've been outside two hours trying to think of

BUNGLED IT

Henry—I hear Walter's engagement's been broken off. How's that, old man?
Herbert—He was trying to tell Phyllis how time stood still whenever he looked in her eyes, and it appears the silly ass didn't get it quite right. At any rate, he gave her to understand, that, in his opinion, her face would stop a clock.

Poetical Division

Stave is another word for stanza or verse of a poem or song. Since a carol is literally a song celebrating the nativity of Christ, it is quite appropriate that the subdivisions be termed staves.

Busy Bees

A New Haven professor declares that the bee is not as busy as it pretends to be. Try interlocking with it, and one end of the insect, at least, will be found to be all business.

"She has a head like a door-knob."
"How come?"
"Any man can turn it."

The Next Step

Fair Client—And when he refused to marry me I made up my mind to see you.
Her Lawyer—All right, now make up your face to see the jury.

No Success

She—You're two hours late. What's your excuse?
He—I have no excuse. I've been outside two hours trying to think of

BUNGLED IT

Henry—I hear Walter's engagement's been broken off. How's that, old man?
Herbert—He was trying to tell Phyllis how time stood still whenever he looked in her eyes, and it appears the silly ass didn't get it quite right. At any rate, he gave her to understand, that, in his opinion, her face would stop a clock.

Poetical Division

Stave is another word for stanza or verse of a poem or song. Since a carol is literally a song celebrating the nativity of Christ, it is quite appropriate that the subdivisions be termed staves.

Busy Bees

A New Haven professor declares that the bee is not as busy as it pretends to be. Try interlocking with it, and one end of the insect, at least, will be found to be all business.

"She has a head like a door-knob."
"How come?"
"Any man can turn it."

The Next Step

Fair Client—And when he refused to marry me I made up my mind to see you.
Her Lawyer—All right, now make up your face to see the jury.

No Success

She—You're two hours late. What's your excuse?
He—I have no excuse. I've been outside two hours trying to think of

BUNGLED IT

Henry—I hear Walter's engagement's been broken off. How's that, old man?
Herbert—He was trying to tell Phyllis how time stood still whenever he looked in her eyes, and it appears the silly ass didn't get it quite right. At any rate, he gave her to understand, that, in his opinion, her face would stop a clock.

Poetical Division

Stave is another word for stanza or verse of a poem or song. Since a carol is literally a song celebrating the nativity of Christ, it is quite appropriate that the subdivisions be termed staves.

Busy Bees

A New Haven professor declares that the bee is not as busy as it pretends to be. Try interlocking with it, and one end of the insect, at least, will be found to be all business.

"She has a head like a door-knob."
"How come?"
"Any man can turn it."

The Next Step

Fair Client—And when he refused to marry me I made up my mind to see you.
Her Lawyer—All right, now make up your face to see the jury.

No Success

She—You're two hours late. What's your excuse?
He—I have no excuse. I've been outside two hours trying to think of

BUNGLED IT

Henry—I hear Walter's engagement's been broken off. How's that, old man?
Herbert—He was trying to tell Phyllis how time stood still whenever he looked in her eyes, and it appears the silly ass didn't get it quite right. At any rate, he gave her to understand, that, in his opinion, her face would stop a clock.

Poetical Division

Stave is another word for stanza or verse of a poem or song. Since a carol is literally a song celebrating the nativity of Christ, it is quite appropriate that the subdivisions be termed staves.

Busy Bees

A New Haven professor declares that the bee is not as busy as it pretends to be. Try interlocking with it, and one end of the insect, at least, will be found to be all business.

"She has a head like a door-knob."
"How come?"
"Any man can turn it."

The Next Step

Fair Client—And when he refused to marry me I made up my mind to see you.
Her Lawyer—All right, now make up your face to see the jury.

No Success

She—You're two hours late. What's your excuse?
He—I have no excuse. I've been outside two hours trying to think of

BUNGLED IT

Henry—I hear Walter's engagement's been broken off. How's that, old man?
Herbert—He was trying to tell Phyllis how time stood still whenever he looked in her eyes, and it appears the silly ass didn't get it quite right. At any rate, he gave her to understand, that, in his opinion, her face would stop a clock.

Poetical Division

Stave is another word for stanza or verse of a poem or song. Since a carol is literally a song celebrating the nativity of Christ, it is quite appropriate that the subdivisions be termed staves.

Busy Bees

A New Haven professor declares that the bee is not as busy as it pretends to be. Try interlocking with it, and one end of the insect, at least, will be found to be all business.

"She has a head like a door-knob."
"How come?"
"Any man can turn it."

The Next Step

Fair Client—And when he refused to marry me I made up my mind to see you.
Her Lawyer—All right, now make up your face to see the jury.

No Success

She—You're two hours late. What's your excuse?
He—I have no excuse. I've been outside two hours trying to think of

BUNGLED IT

Henry—I hear Walter's engagement's been broken off. How's that, old man?
Herbert—He was trying to tell Phyllis how time stood still whenever he looked in her eyes, and it appears the silly ass didn't get it quite right. At any rate, he gave her to understand, that, in his opinion, her face would stop a clock.

Poetical Division

Stave is another word for stanza or verse of a poem or song. Since a carol is literally a song celebrating the nativity of Christ, it is quite appropriate that the subdivisions be termed staves.

Busy Bees

A New Haven professor declares that the bee is not as busy as it pretends to be. Try interlocking with it, and one end of the insect, at least, will be found to be all business.

"She has a head like a door-knob."
"How come?"
"Any man can turn it."

The Next Step

Fair Client—And when he refused to marry me I made up my mind to see you.
Her Lawyer—All right, now make up your face to see the jury.

No Success

She—You're two hours late. What's your excuse?
He—I have no excuse. I've been outside two hours trying to think of

BUNGLED IT

Henry—I hear Walter's engagement's been broken off. How's that, old man?
Herbert—He was trying to tell Phyllis how time stood still whenever he looked in her eyes, and it appears the silly ass didn't get it quite right. At any rate, he gave her to understand, that, in his opinion, her face would stop a clock.

Poetical Division

Stave is another word for stanza or verse of a poem or song. Since a carol is literally a song celebrating the nativity of Christ, it is quite appropriate that the subdivisions be termed staves.

Busy Bees

A New Haven professor declares that the bee is not as busy as it pretends to be. Try interlocking with it, and one end of the insect, at least, will be found to be all business.

"She has a head like a door-knob."
"How come?"
"Any man can turn it."

The Next Step

Fair Client—And when he refused to marry me I made up my mind to see you.
Her Lawyer—All right, now make up your face to see the jury.

No Success

She—You're two hours late. What's your excuse?
He—I have no excuse. I've been outside two hours trying to think of

BUNGLED IT