BUSINESS AND PEACE

Of far more significance, perhaps, than all the efforts of diplomats and other official agencies for peace is the world-wide character which is being assumed by many basic industrial enterprises.

For example, both Ford and General Motors are making business alliances with automobile interests in Germany and other countries. American investments abroad are being made in ever increasing magnitude. Oil and nitrate interests of many countries are pooling their resources. The same is true of other industrial activities. In some respects it appears that business is becoming internationalized, through the formation of great cartel and trusts.

But, however we may look upon these immense combinations of capital from the standpoint of the consumer, it can hardly be denied that they present one of the most hopeful indications that world peace may yet become a reality.

After all, most wars are economic wars. Those who hold the purse strings can generally dictate whether the world shall have war or peace. With capital of various nations invested in common, it becomes imperative that business men use every resource at their command to preserve peace as a matter of self protection.

And when capital cannot afford to see the world involved in war we may be reasonably assured that there will be no war.

OUR CHANGING WORLD

Our present era is distinguished from all others by the rapid changes which are taking place in practically everything which pertains to our daily life. New inventions, new industries, new amusements and new habits generally are playing their parts in the ever-changing scene.

Luxuries of yesterday have become the necessities of today. Products only recently deemed indispensable have almost disappeared, while others unknown but a few years ago are now used everywhere.

The rise of the automobile, motion picture and electrical industries has been astounding, as has been the advance of aviation and the newest amusement, the talkies. Yet, while Americans indulge in more luxury than ever before, savings deposits have trebled in a dozen years, and the number of depositors has been quadrupled.

Whether the sweeping changes we are witnessing are for better or worse is widely debated. But it can hardly be denied that the average person has more of the things which make for comfort and enjoyment than ever before.

THE COUNTRY WEEKLY

As an advertising force, the country weekly is regarded by many prominent manufacturers as the leading medium in America. Although there are still many who have not discovered its possibilities, it does hold a unique position among periodicals. A writer has listed a number of the advantages of the community paper. His points follow:

"At one sitting the average reader scans all the pages of the local paper. No other publication has all its pages read as carefully by a large percentage of its readers."

"There is no publication that reaches so many families in a given trade territory as does the local paper. No other is read by as many people for each subscriber. The whole family reads it."

"An advertisement in the local paper backs up the sales effort of the local retailer far more effectively than any other medium."

For these reasons the country weekly is able to serve not only the advertisers, but every worthy cause for the betterment of the entire county.

An exchange tells of a man who "lays in a state of comma for eight days." But wouldn't that be a period?

A physician who has been investigating says that since they became so athletic modern girls have much thicker wrists than formerly. If this is true it is a good thing for the erring husband that the rolling pin has gone out of fashion in the modern home.

One of the literary masters, Shakespeare or somebody said that brevity is the soul of wit. If this is true, it's a wonder we all don't die laughing at some of the modern skirts that the girls are wearing.

NASH '400'

LEADS THE WORLD IN MOTOR CAR VALUE

"400" Advanced Six Ambassador

$2184

Delivered, Fully Equipped,
Nothing More to Buy!

THE AMBASSADOR BY NASH

TWIN-IGNITION-MOTORED

THOUSANDS of people who drive the Twin-Ignition-motored Nash "400" Ambassador have discovered that the most luxurious type of motoring is not necessarily prohibitive in price.

Obvious to every eye is the style and thoroughbred character of this charming motor car. There is beauty in the purity and grace of every line and curve. There is luxury in every item of interior dress and decoration, from inlaid walnut panelings to the deep, overstuffed cushions, upholstered in fabrics restricted to fine car manufacture.

And equally obvious, to those who know good motor cars, is the high quality of "400" engineering and Ambassador performance. Here, in this moderately priced car, is the Twin-Ignition motor, the year's most notable achievement in power. Another very attractive "400" feature is the "world's easiest steering."

Delivered, Fully Equipped Price Range of 23 Nash "400" models: $1066 to $2249 includes Touring, Roadster, Coupe, Cabriolet, Victoria and Sedan Models ture is the "world's easiest steering."

And the Ambassador is one of the easiest riding cars ever built. The wheelbase is 130 inches. The springs are built of special process alloy steel, individually designed for Ambassador size and weight, and outboard mounted Houdaille double action, hydraulic shock absorbers are regular equipment.

Other features of convenience and quality which Nash volume makes it possible for you to have at Ambassador price, are Bijur Centralized Chassis Lubrication and Chromium-nickel bumpers front and rear—at no extra charge.

Volume and its manufacturing economies plus Nash engineering skill make possible this value. More than 168,000 Nash "400s" were built and sold in the 12 months (just ended) since the "400" introduction.
