Who Is This MAN?

His name doesn't matter, for he goes by many names. His size doesn't matter, for he is lean and stout and tall and short. His age doesn't matter, for he is young with the enthusiasm of untried youth and old with the calm and wisdom of mellowing years. His location doesn't matter, for he is on the corner of the village square, at the intersection of writhing thoroughfares in a teeming city, on the principal street of every town in America.

He has it in his power to heal a wound, to stifle a pain, to save a life. Behind his every act lies a drama. On the steadiness of his hand, on the accuracy of his eye, on the soundness of his knowledge, millions of people in thousands of places rely. He is a friend to the child who begs for a glass of water, the man who is worried about hard times, the woman who can't do a thing with her daughter.

He spent years at college acquiring the professional education which the law demands. He spends his few leisure hours in the pursuit of newer knowledge. Your health and beauty and general well-being are his every day concern. He is the right hand of the doctor, the haven of refuge for the injured, first port of call for the stranger in distress. He labors long and his rewards are meagre; but out of his long vigil in behalf of the humanity of which he is a part, he finds in a corner of his heart the bit of happiness which is his compensation.

Out of each year one week is set aside for the purpose of bringing you and him closer together; of giving him an opportunity to demonstrate to you that he is more than he seems and all that he should be.

HE IS THE SCIENTIST IN YOUR COMMUNITY

Says Ike: "An antifreeze solution. Will aid an auto's constitution; 'Twill stop the cause of oil dilution And save the cost of restitution."

Abso-dam-lutely

There's nothing like a frozen radiator to heat up a man's temper. A car that's cold under the hood makes him hot under the collar. A good antifreeze mixture is cheap and saves buying an expensive cooling system.
