Entered at the Postoffice at Nyssa, Oregon, as second-class mail matter.

The foot ball season ended last Thursday. It is decided to continue the schools and colleges throughout the term nevertheless.

The housing situation is desasterous in Nyssa. An apartment house is our biggest need right now.

From the displays and price tags we conclude that Nyssa is the best place to do your Christmas shopping. New goods are arriving daily, we notice.

Lots of sympathy and censure is expressed for the man who falls from grace, but there is seldom any excuse for a good woman to go wrong. In this day she seldom need leave the straight and narrow path.

It is believed that the branch railroad running from Nyssa to Homedale will eventually be extended east, probably to Minidoka. When it is you'll see a mighty good little town at Homedale. There is to be about 30,000 acres of new irrigated land surrounding the town when the Owyhee project is finished, and Homedale should be the county seat of Owyhee county. It is in Idaho near the state line.

HEALTH CAN BE BOUGHT

Health is not an accident. Science has shown us that certain diseases are unnecessary. Among these is tuberculosis, taking a toll twenty years ago of two hundred lives out of each 100,000, since reduced to less than 80.

An organized army is devoted to exterminating this disease entirely from society. The attack is centered on tuberculosis because of its insidious character as well as the extent of its onslaughts, for those who die because of it usually waste away slowly, and the life of the community is permeated with the by-products of the disease in depleted energy of workers, and poverty. There is another great reason why the forces arrayed under the banner of the double-barred cross, financed by the annual Christmas seal sale, concentrate on tuberculosis. This is because the measures that prevent tuberculosis also prevent many other diseases. Annihilate it and the danger of other diseases is reduced proportionately.

How may this be done or rather how has it been half-done already? The cure of the disease is by rest, fresh air, wholesome food and sunshine. The prevention is by rest, fresh air, wholesome food, sunshine and exercise. It is so simple most people don't believe it—they would be inclined more to see value in the sudden and mysterious "discovery" of a sure panacea.

ALONG LIFE'S TRAIL

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

THE COUNTRY DOCTOR

Martin has never been sick a great deal and has had little to do with doctors. He has not yet learned the modern practice of being overhauled by his physician once every so often to have repairs made or new parts inserted.

Calling a doctor in his mind has always suggested the last resort when everything else had been tried and hope was growing faint. It was the way they had done it the country where he grew up, and he had never, after he moved to the city, been in a situation which required him to change the practice.

In the country, when Martin was a boy, he never recalled anyone's calling a doctor in the daytime. If one got sick he was worked over during the day, and then about midnight or 2 a. m. some one was dispatched for help.

He felt pretty wretched one day last week, "took something" for it, but felt no better; tried to sleep and could not; called up the doctor about midnight and asked him to come over. The reception he received was not so cordial as he had expected. The physician's tones were cold; he showed no enthusiasm.

"Why didn't you call me during the day?" he asked. "It's a dreadful night to go out. Can't you get on until morning?"

It was not so with the country doctor. He came without complaint when he was called. He treated everything. Some one in his reminiscences of the old times was writing not long ago in my home-town paper of the country doctor whom I knew as a boy. He was a well-known figure in town, sturdy, rough in dress, blunt in speech, not overprepossessing in appearance, but he was a ministering angel to hundreds of suffering and needy.

"No road was too long, no night too dark, no storm too severe, to keep him from answering a sick call, even if he never got his pay. Old citizens of this town will ever hold him in grateful remembrance."

Investigate Before You Invest!

Here is a good thing to bear in mind:

When an investment proposition offers big returns with very little chance of loss, it is not necessary to send salesman around the country letting the public in.

The next time a stranger comes to you with a "sure-shot" business opportunity, ask yourself if he isn't going to a good deal of trouble in order to let you make some money. Ask yourself why he didn't let a few big financiers handle it. If a thing is safe for you, it would have been safe for them.

Before you Invest, investigate! The Malheur County Bank will be glad to obtain reliable information for you without charge.
