Is Nyssa Awake To Its Advantages For Marketing?

"The people of Nyssa are seeing some material evidence of the workings of the Hoover Farm Board, in the improvements being made in Nyssa by the Snake River Grain Growers association. The Nyssa Grain and Feed plant is being equipped for bulk handling of grain and storage facilities," said C. M. Beaumont, director for Malheur county.

"I believe this is small evidence of what would be done if farmers and business men took advantage of the movement and gave it their endorsement. In my mind, it is a real effort along the line of farm relief. It is in line with the program of the National Grain Growers, with whom Snake River Grain Growers association is united by the Pacific Regional association. The program is in direct conformation with Hoover's plan as outlined in his St. Louis address, heard over the radio. We have evidence of the rapid growth of this cooperative movement in all farm commodities.

"Business men of Malheur county have not realized the importance of providing suitable markets for produce, along with their effort to increase production.

CHICKS INCREASE BY 50 SINCE PURCHASE EARLY LAST SPRING

In early spring Mrs. Frank T. Morgan purchased 1200 White Leghorn baby chicks. She counted them the other day and was astounded to find she had 1250. The situation was alarming. Had the neighbors chickens joined the flock?

Then Mr. Morgan recalled that at the time of buying the chicks from the hatchery, the owner stated that he ought to sort the consignment and remove the imperfect chicks. Farm duties were numerous and the sorting was postponed.

As a result the flock is larger by 50 young chickens. Better still, they seem to have outgrown any imperfections they might have had.

COUNTY PAYS $5,000 BOND

BONDS RETIRED BEFORE MATURITY TO SAVE INTEREST; BIG BEND BRIDGE BONDS NEXT; COURT DISCUSSES OIL LEASES.

Malheur county issued road bonds in 1918 in the sum of $250,000, to mature December 1, 1933, for road construction. At its August session last Wednesday the county court ordered the retirement of another $5,000 of the original issue, reducing the indebtedness to $150,000. The bonds retired were not due till 1933.

"Anticipating the bonds is possible because the county is in good financial condition," said C. C. Mueller, county treasurer.

The bonds draw 5-1-2 per cent interest, so a large saving in interest will be effected by payment of the bonds at this time, Mr. Mueller added.

The court also reported that owners of Big Bend bridge bonds have been ascertained and an effort is being made to retire them with funds available to cover this indebtedness.

Judge J. H. Richards of Boise requested the court to extend oil leases on Malheur county land from 3 to 5 years. The court stated the lessors should at least pay taxes on the land held. The matter was taken under advisement.

The Malheur county court includes Judge David F. Graham, Ora E. Clark of Ontario and J. D. Fairman of Harper.

ELECT GRAHAM DISTRICT CHIEF AT LEGION MEET

NYSSA MAN REPLACES HUGH BRADY AS COMMANDER OF DISTRICT NO. 7, EASTERN OREGON; CHANGE JUNIOR BASEBALL RULES AT STATE CONVENTION.

Donald M. Graham of Nyssa, commander of the Malheur County Post of the American Legion with headquarters in Ontario, was elected district commander of Eastern Oregon District No. 7 at the state convention in Co-vallis.

Other state officers elected were Alec C. Barry, Portland, commander of the department of Oregon; Hugh Brady of La Grande past commander of this district, state vice-commander; Tom Stowton, Portland, finance officer; C. H. Runnels, McMinnville, chaplain; and Sid George, Eugene, national committee man.

Lester Albert, adjutant of the department of Idaho was present and extended greetings from Idaho with the declaration that Idaho was strong behind Oregon in seeking the 1932 national convention for Portland.

The Portland juniors, who eliminated the Nyssa-Ontario nine from the state finals, won the Oregon championship by defeating Salem in the finals 5 to 4 at Corvallis, Portland, New Plymouth and two other teams will meet at the regional tournament in Butte.

The committee on junior baseball effected several changes in the statutes. Chief among the changes is the one making Portland a separate section, instead of only a district as it has been in the past. Henceforth Portland's championship either will go directly into the state finals or will meet in the semi-finals a team from some section of the state other than eastern Oregon. This clause will relieve the eastern Oregon teams from bucking the strenuous competitions offered by Portland lads before the state match.

Another important change was that specifying that no birth certificate will be accepted, if it has been changed within the preceding three years.

ONIONS ARE STRONG ARGUMENT IN FAVOR RECLAMATION HERE

No stronger argument in favor of reclamation was presented visiting congressmen, the sub-committee on appropriations, here Wednesday than 120 acres of onions grown by K. Matsumura on the Bully creek unit of the Vale irrigation project.

The onions show astonishing growth on land that has been cleared, leveled and irrigated since March. Matsumura has contracted the crop at $15 per ton. He estimates return of $300 per acre, as the yield promises to be fairly heavy.

H. E. Fuchs, another new settler at Harper, sold his onions at $1 per hundred. His crop will bring $20 per ton.

Several members of the family were swimming and did not notice the boy disappear. His body was under water 45 minutes and efforts to revive him proved futile.

$50 Goes Far In Church Welfare Work, Report Says

A $50 appropriation from the county did welfare work to the last penny, in the capable hands of Rev. Miss Josie J. Blokland of Nyssa. It bought food, clothing, bedding, medicine and household necessities for families in want last winter. It provided funds for the burial of two children. It is safe to say, $50 never went farther, nor did more good.

The annual report of the Methodist community church also discloses that Miss Blokland distributed 2094 garments, 150 quarts of fruit, 250 gospel books, 19 dozen scriptures, 2 dozen molasses, 1000 leaflets, 27 bibles and 6 dozen bible pictures. A total of 491 persons were aided by the welfare department.

Church improvement also played a leading part in a varied program. The church was painted. Drain pipes were installed. Eighteen primary chairs were presented by business men, each dedicating a chair to a little child.

CONGRESSMEN ASK $2,500,000 FOR OWYHEE PROJECT

F. A. BANKS GUIDES IMPORTANT SUB-COMMITTEE ON TRIP OVER OWYHEE; DELEGATION HONORED AT LUNCHEON IN ONTARIO.

Two million five hundred thousand dollars for the Owyhee, is the hope of the Idaho and Oregon delegation in congress, Senator Frederick Steiwer of Oregon told the Oregon delegation yesterday. He and Congressman E. R. Butler were members of the party who accompanied the important sub-committee on appropriations on the inspection of Owyhee and Vale irrigation projects Tuesday and Wednesday. Engineer F. A. Banks escorted the party.

From talks at the luncheon at the Moore hotel in Ontario yesterday, it is gleaned that congressmen are agreed that it is more important to conserve ample water for existing projects than build new ones; that work on Malheur projects must proceed; that the reclamation fund is short and another loan must be secured; that the entire party was greatly impressed by productivity of the Snake river valley.

Senator Steiwer and E. C. Van Petten, toastmaster, welcomed the congressmen, several of whom are from eastern states where there is no reclamation. Their interest is the appropriation of money to worthy business of the federal government.

Although Congressman Butler addressed the group at luncheon but briefly, he told The Journal that he greatly enjoyed the trip to Owyhee dam. "A year ago excavation for the foundation was in progress," he said, "and today Mr. Banks showed us a great dam that rises to within 140 feet of the top of the canyon. It is an impressive sight and a beautiful structure."

Senator John Thomas, author of the loan bill that assumed work this year, in a stirring talk, urged "that not a drop of water be wasted in the west. Build new reservoirs," he said.

A Democrat in the party, an excellent speaker, was Edward D. Taylor, congressman from Colorado many years. He told of the work of the department of the interior. He introduced Frank Murphy of Ohio, chairman of the committee, W. W. Hastings of Oklahoma, R. F. Walker chief engineer, who was present owing to the fact that Commissioner Elwood Mead was called back to Washington, J. F. Bailey, assistant director of the budget; and W. A. Duval, clerk.

Burton L. French and Addison T. Smith of Idaho made addresses as friendly and cordial to Owyhee and Vale as the declarations of Oregon congressmen.

Representative Luce of Massachusetts gave the closing talk and departed from the keynote of the meeting by stating "the west needs no succor from the east." He remarked upon the apparent prosperity of western agriculture and business.

Other notables at the meeting were Marshall N. Dana, chairman of the game commission, Portland, W. G. Ide, State Chamber of Commerce; C. E. Stricklin, state engineer; Dr. W. L. Powers, O. S. C.

Dr. J. J. and Mrs. Sarazin, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Morgan and Mrs. F. B. Schlapkohl and Mrs. W. F. McLaughlin of Nyssa attended. R. D. Lyle, Judge David F. Graham, F. G. Cleveland, Joe F. Dyer, T. T. Nelson, H. C. Kennard, Geo. W. McKnight, A. H. Bone and Engineer C. C. Ketchum of Vale were there and J. D. Fairman of Harper.

The Owyhee project board and Attorney E. M. Blodgett accompanied the congressional party from Payette to Owyhee dam Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Calkins, parents of Mrs. Frank T. Morgan, returned to their home in Eugene Friday. They were accompanied by Miss Ruth Dupuis, guest of Miss Margaret Hunt last week.

W. W. Foster and son Howard left Friday for Manhattan, Mont., to visit Mr. Foster's brother and family. They planned to be away a week.
