PACIFIC CO-OP. WOOL GROWERS ELECT DIRECTORS

Joe Keerins, of Izee, will represent the counties of Grant, Harney and Malheur on the board of directors of the Pacific Cooperative Wool Growers, as a result of the membership election held Monday at Canyon City.
A feature of the election in all the various districts served by the Pacific Cooperative Wool Growers was the unusually heavy vote cast for directors by the wool grower members, indicating a growing interest in the business operations of their cooperative organizations.
Joe Keerins and his brother, David Keerins, are prominent sheep men in the Izee section and have been members of the Pacific Cooperative for some time. The first meeting of the newly elected board will be February 8 in Portland.
Other Eastern and Central Oregon wool growers elected to the cooperative's board of directors include: Michael P. Barry, Merrill; Carl Whitmore, Joseph; Fred Phillips, Keating, and J. G. Barratt, Heppner. Western Oregon will be represented by E. A. McCormack of Eugene and G. A. Sandner, Seilo. Directors from other states include J. T. Alexander, Chehalis, Wn.; Albert Davis, Pullman, Wn.; J. O. Sorenson, Ellensburg, Wn.; J. O. Rhoades, Riggins, Ida.; L. A. Robertson, Garberville, Calif.; Dr. Edwin Bunnell, Willows, Calif.; J. D. Yeager, Wellington, Nevada.
Mrs. W. H. King, mother of Mrs. C. L. McCoy, arrived yesterday from Pendleton for an indefinite visit at the McCoy home. Mrs. King has just returned from a trip to Portland and Seattle.
