FEDERAL RESERVE FAVORS HALT IN FORECLOSURES

Steps have been taken by the banking and industrial committees of the twelve Federal Reserve Districts of the country to ameliorate conditions concerning mortgage foreclosures and sales of farm land.

The following statements were made by representatives of the various organizations cooperating:

WILSON MCCARTHY AND GARDNER COWLES, directors of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation:

"We as representatives of the R. F. C. personally favor and will recommend to our board the rendering of liberal help to any qualified agency including Banks, Insurance Companies, Building and Loan Associations, Mortgage Loan Companies, which will make new loans on farms on a sound basis at this time; and we believe the board will act in accordance with our recommendations."

PAUL BESTOR, farm loan commissioner the Federal Farm Loan Board:

"The Federal Land Banks state to the Farm Loan Board that if a farmer has made an honest effort to meet his payments and is unable to do so, but desires to remain on the farm, is willing to cooperate with the bank in working out his problem and, in the opinion of the bank, has a reasonable chance of succeeding if given the opportunity, the bank will, with the approval of the local National Farm Loan Association, give him this opportunity, unless, some factor enters which compels the bank to act for its own protection."

WESTFALL TEACHER INJURED IN FALL

Westfall—When Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Sandy went to the Chas. Johnson ranch last Saturday for the purpose of buying hay, their visit was marred by an unusual accident. Mrs. Sandy was sent to the cellar on an errand when she tripped on the steps and fell. She sustained painful bruises but was able to resume teaching Monday at the Bonita school.

Mr. Sandy has moved his cattle from Westfall to his Sunnyside ranch at Bonita.

N. E. Jenkins has closed a deal for the purchase of the Lex Anderson
