NYSSA, OREGON

BUSIEST AND FASTEST GROWING TOWN IN OREGON INVESTIGATE -- LOCATE

$1.50 PER YEAR

COUNTY WILL SURFACE ROADS NEAR 3 TOWNS

UNEMPLOYED WILL GET WINTER WORK; COURT FAVORS GRADING NYSSA CEMETERY ROAD; COURT HERE MONDAY.

The Malheur county court has appropriated a winter nest egg of $3000 from the general fund for relief work on roads in the vicinity of Vale, Ontario and Nyssa, $1000 to be allocated to each community. Only men, with dependants, who have applied for the work in the three towns will be employed and it will be supervised by the various roadmasters and the county court.

Judge David F. Graham, Commissioners Ora E. Clark and E. H. Brumbach were here Tuesday to make plans for an immediate start. The work will consist largely of hand and team labor in the surfacing of town and country roads. Men will be paid $1.50 per day, this wage being favored in order to promote the work among many applicants. The work will continue until the appropriations are exhausted.

The court found 47 applicants on the Nyssa list, about half the number that applied for relief work here in 1932. The same condition exists in the two other towns, said Judge Graham, so he does not believe the unemployment problem is as serious this winter as it was last. He also believes the low price of produce made it easier for needy families to lay in a supply for winter.

The court favored graving of the road to the Nyssa cemetery, a few bad streets and nearby county roads. Archie Howell is roadmaster in this district.

State Relief Work The state highway department is beginning a second relief job in Malheur county, the grading of 6 and 3-4 miles of the Central Oregon highway near Juntura which will cost over $98,000. The commission has designated that 68 per cent of the labor shall come from Multnomah county, 7 per cent from Harney and the balance from Malheur. Dan Teters has charge of the work for the General Construction company of Seattle. The camp has been erected and work is getting under way.

Many Farmers Look to Vale-Owyhee Lands; Now Receive Local Paper

Indicating a healthy interest in the new projects, the inquiries come from all corners of the country.

The mechanics found it the biggest reason for a puncture they had ever observed.

Horne Seeks Aid Of Californians For I-O-N Hiway

"A straight, wide, high-speed road, running due south from Harper to McDermitt, there to connect with the Winnemucca, Nev., highway."

Thus, Riley Horne visions the I-O-N highway, which he has carefully mapped for presentation to the highway departments of the several states interested in the construction of the much needed highway outlet through Malheur county. He left this week for Cloverdale, Cal., and took the map with him to show the California highway commission what a short, straight route it is and to secure its aid in promoting the road as a federal aid project.

The entire stretch passes through public domain. Horne says it will follow a natural pass through Keeny canyon and the few other hills encountered. He believes it could be built for $750 to $1000 per mile. He suggests an east and west connection with Jordan Valley.

EDUCATION BOARD SLASHES SALARIES

PAY OF COLLEGE INSTRUCTORS AGAIN REDUCED FROM 9 TO 27 PER CENT.

Slicing $265,000 from estimated salary expenses for the next two years, which is in addition to the $580,000 already lopped off operating expense, the Oregon state board of higher education at its meeting Monday at the University club squared away the budget for the biennium of 1933 and 1934 so that Oregon's five institutions of higher learning will function on 31 per cent less money than they used in the biennium of 1929 and 1930.

"What other departments of the state government in Oregon have taken parallel reductions?" the board asked in its report.

Cuts were increased by the discovery that slashes made in November, totaling $370,000, were not sufficient to balance the budget on the basis of the income from all sources. Thus the total reduction was boosted to $630,000.

$132,000 Saved Annually Salary reductions ranged from 9 to 27 per cent.

These will provide $132,000 a year savings in addition to those brought about by the 5 to 15 per cent cuts which the staffs took during the current year.

MORTON SAYS OUT OF STATE SHEEP ESCAPE TAX ROLL

Murray Morton, new assessor of Malheur county, believes the Oregon legislature can help this county to the tune of many dollars in tax money if a law is passed providing that assessments shall begin on January 1, instead of March 1, as the present law provides. He has requested local legislators to prepare such a bill.

When assessments are postponed until March, thousands of transient sheep and cattle which winter in Jordan Valley and other border lands in winter and early spring escape the tax roll. Morton says they leave for the hills before the assessment can be made. He believes it a substantial loss as Malheur county has more state border land than any other in Oregon, bordering Idaho on the east and Nevada on the south.

Morton discussed the matter with Jordan Valley stockmen and stopped in Nyssa on return to the county seat Friday.
