

Junior-Senior Prom Will Be Given Saturday

The leading social event of the school year, the Junior-Senior banquet will be given by the Junior class at the Eagles' hall Saturday evening, April 29, at 7 p. m. A program will be given by the juniors and a dance in the high school gymnasium will follow events at the hall.

Invitations, in the form of a pirate's map, delighted the seniors and faculty yesterday.

At a junior class meeting Friday, committees were appointed as follows: entertainment—Doris Smith, Robert Holmes, Claudene Crawford, invitations, Mary Mattingly, Minnie Wilson; decorations—Cawald Forbes, Venice Brown, Minnie Wilson; banquet—all girls of the class. Mrs. Ada Haworth is junior advisor and will assist throughout.

NEW LEADERS

Not so many months ago a new administration took charge of our federal government. From the first day they have been active in bettering our government and bringing the country from the depths of depression.

Recently we nominated officers to take control of our school government next year. The qualifications of the nominees were studied carefully before their names were put before the student body.

On Friday, we are going to vote, and one person will be elected for each office. If these three students will take President Roosevelt's administration as an example we are sure that next year will see a bigger and better Nyssa High!—S. K.

NOMINATE OFFICERS

Nominations for new officers of the student body were made Friday at an assembly. Sidney Boren was nominated for president; Ray Ashcraft, Harriet Sarazin, Meredith Seits, for vice-president; Tienia Tienia, Ethel Mary Boydell, Lila Hite, for secretary. When nominations were made, speakers told of the ability of the respective candidate. The student body will vote on officers at the next regular meeting of the assembly.—E. E.

SCHOOL BRIEFS

Several students in high school have been vaccinated for small pox. Ruth Fenn, Bill Boor and Clifford Lathen have ailments.

A fire drill was held Friday morning and students enjoyed sliding down the fire escapes.

Seniors ordered their announcements Friday. Cards will be ordered locally.

MODERN DAY PROSE

Time equals—five minutes till one; place equals—study hall; occupants are students grouped around talking and Mr. Young starting to ring bell for classes.

There is suddenly a loud squealing and jumping around among a group of chatting girls, a sneaking by the door of a couple of Sophomore boys, and a terrible look of askance and disapproval from Mr. Young.

Jacob Groot was designated the hero of the hour and removed the object of confusion to the waste paper basket and quiet reigned again. It was only a dead mouse.—C. I.

The W. C. T. U. will continue the rummage sale on Saturday at the Abbott office as a number of articles remained after the sale of last week.

APPLE VALLEY MAN IS BURIED ON MONDAY

Apple Valley—Funeral services were held in Parma Monday for Alvin A. Crossman, 71, of Apple Valley who died last week after a paralytic stroke. His son J. E. Crossman came from Ventura, Cal., to arrange for the services. He is survived by his widow, four sons and two daughters.

Mr. Crossman came to Apple Valley about 10 years ago, first locating where the Gene Reed family live. He later rented the J. Miller farm from Mrs. Corrine Ward and then purchased a 5-acre orchard.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Perkins found Mr. Crossman in an unconscious condition and summoned the doctor. He was later removed to a Caldwell hospital by the Elks lodge. His death is mourned by friends here.

Troy Gooing and Grace are enjoying the visit of Mr. Gooing's married daughter from Portland who is here for an extended stay.

Last Sunday the J. Hicks, Mrs. Roy Gee of Roswell and Mrs. Fred Miller celebrated joint birthdays at the Hicks home. Dinner was served for a large crowd.

The 4-H sewing club held achievement day at the schoolhouse last Friday with Mrs. Ralph Castater and Mrs. Levi Stephens judging the exhibits. Iris Ham won first prize in the sixth grade division, Betty Osterkamp, second, and Dolores Allspaugh, honorable mention; Donna Miller, first in the seventh grade division, Norma Stout, second.

Mr. and Mrs. Daubenberger, who rented the orchard across from the Ura Robinson farm, are leaving this week.

A. R. Adams and son of Bend purchased a truckload of onions from J. S. Watson. While here they called at the Geo. Daly home. Mr. and Mrs. T. Dunwettie and Mrs. K. S. Hill of Nampa were also visitors there last week.

Mrs. Edith Tegerstrand and daughter who have been visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. Robt. McIntyre left for Portland Monday.

MYRNA LOY SIREN IN COMING SHOW

Myrna Loy portrays in "The Animal Kingdom," a wife who uses the psychology of a mistress to keep him entirely under her influence.

Miss Loy has the role of Cecilia, who, though well-bred and educated, is neither sensitive to fine things nor generous spirited. Her husband's preferences, when they are not hers, she manages to change by using the wiles of a seductive woman. She nearly robs him of his personality before he sees her for what she is—a selfish and unprincipled siren.

Ann Harding plays the role of 'the other woman' and Leslie Howard is the husband.
