A large crowd attended the program and dance following. School patrons regret that Mrs. Baker will not return to Arock next year.

Mrs. C. L. Park is the proud owner of a new Ford car.

C. E. Lanning came home last week with a new Ford pick-up. Sunshine is welcome after so much storm and cold weather. Very little of the alfalfa in this section was frozen out and hay crops promise to be as good as usual.

Mrs. W. S. Bruce, who has been confined in a hospital at Nampa for several weeks, has recovered and is expected home at an early date.

School Notes

Miss Stella Fishburn is again in school after three weeks illness.

All Seniors having their work finished were excused from school Friday. Some, however, returned this week to make up work or practice for the Senior play.

Seniors received their announcements and cards Monday. Caps and gowns arrived Tuesday.

The Junior class is planning a picnic for Saturday. Mrs. Ada Haworth will accompany the students.

Kenneth Esqew is back in school after a short absence due to blood poisoning in his foot caused from stepping on a rusty nail.

The physics class made a trip to Owyhee Dam Wednesday.

Wednesday and Thursday of last week saw a new fad introduced in Nyssa high among the under-class girls who donned overalls and wore them to school.

The Juniors are to decorate the church for Baccalaureate service next Sunday.

The Juniors are working on their paper, "The Crimson Torch," which will be the last edition of the Peri-scope.

JOIN PROSPECTORS

If there's gold in "them thar hills," Douglas McDonald and Ray Kendler hope to find their share of it. With camp outfit and pans for washing gold, they left Saturday for the mountain streams above Ironside.
