KATE SMITH LEADS FARMERS IN FIGHT TO RETAIN HOMES

"Hello, Everybody!", Kate Smith's first full-length feature picture, made from a story by Fannie Hurst, will appear at the Liberty Theatre in Nyssa Friday-Saturday.

The film tells the story of a competent and big-hearted farm girl, who has successfully managed a large farm since her father's death. Surveyors from a San Francisco power and water company appear in the neighborhood to buy up the valley farms. Kate refuses to sell, and the farmers, accepting her natural leadership, also refuse. Litigation results, the long court battles eating up the life savings of the farmers. Kate, seeking a way out, signs a contract with a radio company, and lets her voice raise the money which saves the valley farms.

Randolph Scott and Sally Blane play the romantic leads. The new songs which Miss Smith introduces in the course of the film are "Moon Song," "Pickaninies' Heaven," "Out in the Great Open Space," and "Twenty Million People."
