

MALHEUR CONVICT HELD FOR MURDER OF BAKER WOMAN

DAVE BRICHOUX OF JUNTURA IS AGAIN HELD FOR BRUTAL SLAYING; ARRESTED IN IDAHO.

Dave Brichoux, 55, who served a term in the Oregon penitentiary for the murder of Lum Goodman of Juntura, was arrested yesterday in Baker and formally charged with the slaying of Mrs. Albert Koehler on August 24. Brichoux was released from the penitentiary June 28.

After the slaying, officers found that Brichoux had been in the Baker vicinity about the time of the murder. He was located in Placerville, Ida., last Friday where he had been prospecting with his son. He voluntarily returned to Baker with officers and denied the crime. His arrest yesterday followed a comparison of palm prints, a print left on a bottle in the Koehler home corresponding with that of Brichoux.

Mrs. Koehler was shot two times and struck with an axe on the night of August 24, something after her husband left for town. Robbery was given as the motive as money was said to be missing. Brichoux was a brother of the late Augustine Koehler, first wife of Dr. Koehler.

4-H Clubs Enter Biggest Display At Recent County Fair; Grangers Do Part

The biggest and best 4-H club exhibit in the annals of the Malheur county fair was the highlight of a visit at the County fair in Ontario last week end. Club work occupied about a fourth of the space in the agricultural hall and ranged from corn, excellent that grown by "dads," to all kinds of sewing, cooking and other crafts. And this did not include the livestock exhibited by club boys in the adjoining barns. Russell McKennon county leader, and his assistants, the leaders of clubs in all parts of the county, deserve much credit.

Granges Make Showing

For the best crop displays, the fair board again depended upon the granges of the county and as usual they displayed beautiful exhibits of grains, seeds, fruits and vegetables.

It would be hard to say which was the more perfect at this fair, the "model farm" booth of Big Bend grange or the artistic grain display of Oregon Slope. Surrounded by all kinds of produce, a modern house, poultry house and barn formed the keynote of the Big Bend winner. A star, made of grain, in a background of alfalfa, took up the wall space in the Oregon Slope booth. Below it were the various grains in neat compartments. A chart told Malheur county's production.

Boulevard's display was carried out in cart wheel style with lovely flowers a new attraction. Again this year, visitors were delighted with the show-

GIRLS AND BOYS WIN 4-H TRIPS

High standing in club work, along with winning exhibits at the county fair this year and others, brought good fortune to two girls and two boys in the form of a free trip to 4-H summer school at Corvallis next June.

Doris Klingback, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Klingback of Owyhee, won the prize for outstanding sewing club member. Evelyn Haworth, daughter of Mrs. Ada Haworth, Nyssa teacher, won the prize for cooking; Eugene Stewart of Ontario, for livestock; and Paul Kirby of Valley View, for crops. The trips will be financed by the Ontario commercial club.

Project carried, years in club work, activity, rating at fairs, leadership, attendance and quality of work were considered when selections were made. The winners have had at least three years training in 4-H work.

Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm J. Crawford were in Nampa last week end.

OREGON REQUESTS IDAHO TO SHARE COST OF I-O-N

HIGHWAY COMMISSION CONFERS WITH IDAHO OFFICIALS, FAVORS MARSING-JORDAN ROUTE.

$50,000 for the improvement of the McDermitt-Jordan Valley road. (Allocated some months ago).

The promise that Oregon would be "obligated" to build a highway from Jordan Valley to the Nevada line if Idaho would build a connection from Marsing to Jordan on the Idaho side.

This and nothing more was the promise of the Oregon highway commission which met with the Idaho commission and Governor C. Ben Ross in Boise Friday to discuss the I-O-N highway. Judge David F. Graham, Commissioner E. H. Brumbach of Big Bend, C. L. McCoy of the Nyssa Commercial club and Mayor George Aiken of Ontario were present. "I will not commit Oregon to any specified highway," said Scott "but we would be obligated to meet the Idaho road if it were built."

The route favored by Scott would cross Snake river at Marsing, a junction southeast of Homedale, approach but not cross the Oregon border, then travel southward to Jordan Valley. "We will be willing to build two miles of highway from the Idaho line to the Malloy ranch to give the connection with the old road and a route through Oregon," said Scott. "This route would cost $950,000 of which Idaho would bear $400,000 and Oregon $550,000."

With Mr. Scott were E. B. Aldrich, Pendleton member of the commission, R. H. Baldock, chief engineer, Dr. McDaniel and Ray Conway of the Oregon A. A. H. G. Smith, engineer, and W. C. Williams, district engineer at La Grande.

In another statement issued from Portland Monday, Mr. Scott stated that the commission has made a study of traffic between states and visualizes its growth as inevitable. Arteries to relieve the already heavily traveled main routes will have to be constructed when money is available, he said.

Mr. Scott's proposal that Idaho build half the I-O-N met with approval here as such a plan would speed construction, it is generally believed. Although the Idaho route will be a few miles longer for Owyhee project producers, it would provide the needed market road connection with Nevada and California. Nyssa people are also eager to see the construction of the road from McDermitt north to Jordan Valley which is nothing more than a trail at present. In spite of its condition, trucks and cars use it daily because it provides a shorter route into Nevada and California.

BLAST ROCKS EARTH AT WARD DIGGINGS

For the entertainment of a party of young people, Marlin Wilson set off a blast at the Ward mine near Prairie City Monday when they were inside the tunnel in the mine. The blast shook the earth much like an earthquake would. The tunnel now extends some 600 feet back into the earth and the operators, Wm. Ward and Wilson, are looking for a strike any day.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson prepared dinner Monday for a dozen guests, among them Mr. and Mrs. Wayne French, Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Thompson, Miss Donna Cook and Henry Hatch, the latter being on return to the C. C. camp at Bates. Other guests were Mrs. Wm. Ward and two sons of Prairie City. Eddie Powell and John Ward of Nyssa, who are also interested in the mine, were at the camp Sunday.

Apple Valley and Nyssa friends gave a dinner last Sunday for Marvin Penrod.

Prati's Peach Orchard Grows Excellent Crop

With peaches at a premium owing to the spring frost which cut the crop average down close to 50 per cent John Prati's fine young orchard of 24 acres on an island in Snake river one mile south of Nyssa is coming into heavy production at the opportune time. Prati's trees are loaded with fruit so heavy a crew was required to prop the branches last week.

Prati brings the fruit across the river by boat and sells it at his home on this side of the river.

J. Peterson planted the trees several years ago. Yesterday he drove out to see the orchard and said it is one of the finest he has ever seen. Prati bought the island from Mr. Neighbors a few years ago.

PASTOR WILL CONTINUE HERE

REV FLOYD E. WHITE AGAIN ASSIGNED NYSSA AND APPLE VALLEY CHURCHES.

At the request of community folk, as well as those closely allied with the Methodist community church, Rev. Floyd E. White was reappointed to serve the Nyssa and Apple Valley churches for the coming year. The assignment was made at the annual conference in Rupert, from which Rev. and Mrs. White returned Tuesday. This will be Rev. White's second year in Nyssa.

"Not much money but a wonderful church year," is the way Rev. White and others at the conference summed up the past twelve months. He stated that pastors from all over the country told of renewed interest in church activities, despite reduced budgets everywhere.

Rev. White's annual report to the local board disclosed that he made 1200 calls during the year and drove 7000 miles while engaged in church work. Rev. White added a hearty word of praise for the cooperation accorded him here, in Apple Valley and Oregon Trail.

"I am glad to return," he said. "I am looking forward to a better year for everyone."

BUY NOW CAMPAIGN OPENS HERE FRIDAY

"Buy now what you need—put someone to work!" This is the Blue Eagle's pealing cry, ringing from coast to coast, and that call is being answered in Nyssa. At the request of E. C. Van Petten, local NRA chairman, the consumer's card will be distributed here Friday for signing. "It is up to the consumer to make the NRA program a success," he said. "Business men are trying to do their part but buyers must help—it all depends on them. Everyone who buys what he needs is putting someone to work."

Mr. Van Petten sent cards and stickers to The Journal office. They will be given out by the Nyssa Civic club tomorrow at the flower show. Everyone who registers at an NRA card. The civic club will make an effort to secure the signatures of other consumers in Nyssa the last of this week.

Farm folk and others may also sign the NRA cards at the city hall. Dr. Norcott, president of the commercial club, today appointed Sid Burbridge, Artie Robertson, J. R. Hunter, Mrs. J. J. Sarazin and Mrs. McLing the Nyssa NRA committee.

DEATH CLAIMS MRS. CLARNO

FORMER NYSSA MATRON DIES ONE MONTH AFTER HER HUSBAND'S DEATH.

A month after the death of her husband, Mrs. Susan Clarno, 67, formerly of Nyssa, died at her home in Walla Walla last Monday. Her husband Andrew B. Clarno passed away the latter part of July after a brief illness. Mrs. Clarno was born April 4, 1863, in Petaluma, Cal., and is survived by three sons, Harold, Vincent and Austin, all of Walla Walla. She was buried at Walla Walla.

The late Mr. Clarno operated a meat shop in Nyssa three years ago. He later moved to a farm in Apple Valley where he spent one summer. Last fall he and his family moved to Walla Walla. Nyssa friends were shocked to hear of Mrs. Clarno's sudden death.

PUBLIC WORKS CHIEF INSPECTS LOCAL PROJECTS

C. C. HOCKLEY OF PORTLAND VISITS OWYHEE PROJECT AND DISCUSSES CITY SEWAGE SYSTEM.

To learn the status of the huge public works program slated for the Owyhee irrigation project and to inquire into the possibility of a city sewage project in Nyssa, C. C. Hockley, Oregon engineer for the bureau of public works, was here from Portland on Monday. He is on a tour of eastern Oregon, visiting all projects which will come under the public works program.

At a meeting with the Owyhee board of directors and members of the city council, Mr. Hockley stated that Owyhee work will probably follow an agreement as to hours and wages which will be paid by contractors.

From Washington came word Wednesday that Secretary Ickes is dissatisfied with the speed at which non-federal bodies are presenting their projects. To permit full speed ahead, the public works body agreed to make quick allotments for state and municipal projects under a plan whereby the money would be withdrawn unless final contracts are executed within 30 days. This will permit skirting around much red tape, but will require the execution of a contract for work to proceed 30 days after a tentative allotment has been granted.

Nyssa is considering a city sewage project which would come under the 30 per cent direct grant and 70 per cent government loan plan.

Nyssa people enjoyed the opportunity of meeting Mr. Hockley and found him an interested as well as interesting visitor.

CONGRESSMAN PIERCE IS SPEAKER AT FAIR

The NRA program of recovery will succeed or the present capitalist system will be followed by a dangerous order, predicted Congressman Walter Pierce when he spoke to the crowd at the opening of the county fair in Ontario Friday. "NRA is an experiment audacious and untried," he declared. "But it must succeed if property rights are to be secure and our country go forward."

Mr. and Mrs. Pierce were guests of honor at a dinner meeting of the Ontario commercial club attended by a delegation from Nyssa that evening. Saturday they were guests at the Pine Valley fair near Baker.

Tuesday they left on a tour of the state during which Mr. Pierce will deliver a number of talks in support of the national recovery program. He will also investigate the Warm Springs Indian reservation as an agent of the government. He and Mrs. Pierce expect to return home about the 15th.

GOLF CLUB MEETS HERE FRIDAY EVE

C. L. McCoy and Fred Johnston, president and secretary of the Nyssa-Parma Golf club, have called an important meeting for Friday evening, September 8, when final plans for improvement of the new golf course east of town will be made. Owing to the lack of a quorum, final action could not be taken at a meeting here last week although those present were in hearty accord with the proposed leasing and improvement of the state tract near the Osterkamp farm.

Members and friends of the golf club are urged to attend.

WATER DELAYS WORK AT DORMAN GAS WELL

Two large pumps, a concrete mixer and other equipment needed to seal off the water from flowing into the gas well on the S. D. Dorman ranch, just off the Nyssa-Vale highway, arrived at the well last week from Casper, Wyoming. The United Development company, which is promoting the well, let the contract for eliminating the water to the Perkins Oil Well Cement company. George Thorsen, who is in charge of the well, says it will require only a few days work to seal off the water and then further drilling can proceed.

Development of the well has been under way the past three years at various intervals.

OWYHEE SETTLER HERE

Albert Pheller, owner of 160 acres of choice Owyhee land on the Nyssa bench, was here Monday from Oxnard, Cal., to see how the project is coming. Mrs. Pheller was with him and for several days they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Pimney in Ontario. The Journal enjoyed a visit with them Monday.

YOUTH IS TOSSED INTO HAY RAKE BY RUNAWAY TEAM

Lloyd Bunch got a raking over Monday when he was thrown onto a hay rake by a runaway team at the E. B. Brush farm near town. His legs were badly bruised and one wrist was broken by a falling lever but he fortunately escaped being struck by the iron prongs of the rake. The horses stopped at a fence and Bunch was freed after being dragged about two blocks. Mr. Brush took him to Dr. J. J. Sarazin who found his most serious injury the broken wrist. The youth is a son of V. Bunch, another rancher of this section.

GIRL SUFFERS CUT

Donna Jean, five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Warren, tore a deep cut in her knee Tuesday evening when a long nail intercepted her climb on a packing box.

SCHAFFER WINS PRIZE ON CORN

NYSSA FIGHT FANS ATTEND LABOR DAY CARD AT NAMPA. RAFFERTY GETS SURPRISE.

"Smiling" Pat Rafferty, fight favorite in Nyssa, met his Waterloo early Monday night when Steve Magill, with a long bluff to the back of the head, floored him in the first round of a Labor Day bout in Nampa. The large delegation from Nyssa was just as surprised as Rafferty as he was given a two to one chance to win over the less scientific Meridian boxer.

Les Berry, another favorite here, continued his winning streak by winning a technical knockout from the fast Clyde Hoxwood of Lewiston, Utah. The first round was hip and tuck. Berry's "haymakers" struck home in the second and Hoxwood flopped on the canvas to be saved by the bell. His seconds tossed in the towel, however, at the opening of the third with Berry scoring the knockout decision.

In the main event, Sig Ecklund, 165, of Portland almost bettered the trim Hal Hoxwood but the judges called the long, breath-taking battle a draw pleasing the majority. Ecklund drew first blood but for round after round both fighters came back with vim and vigor which set fans on their toes. Buddy Randall, 118, Nampa youth, won a decision over a shifty brown boy Jimmy Phillips, 118, of Seattle. There was the curtain raiser and another good fight.

COURT DOCKET LIGHT

A light term of court confronts the jurors drawn for September. Up to Tuesday, only two criminal cases had been set, the case of State vs. Whit Redsell, charging larceny of cattle; and the case of State vs. Melvin Walters, charging destruction of a promissory note. Several civil cases were set for the end of this week.

Mrs. Richard Nankervis of Butte, Mont., arrived Friday to visit with her daughter Mrs. Arthur H. Boydell and family for a few weeks. On Labor Day the Boydells took Mrs. Nankervis to Boise.

PRIZE FLOWERS WILL BLOOM FOR PUBLIC FRIDAY

NYSSA CIVIC CLUB WILL HOLD FALL FLOWER SHOW AT EAGLES HALL TOMORROW—AFTERNOON AND EVENING.

When the doors swing open at the fall flower show of the Nyssa Civic club at the Eagles hall tomorrow (Friday) afternoon at one o'clock, visitors will see a display of flowers of such variety and beauty as would surprise the person who called this a desert region. Flower raising being a hobby here, the flower show is the premier showing of the season.

Frequent wind and the grasshopper invasion have caused some damage to gardens but Mrs. Eddie Powell, chairman, is confident that blossoms will be brought which will equal, if not excel, the flowers displayed in other years. Entries must be in before noon Friday as judging by Mrs. E. C. Van Petten of Ontario, Mrs. R. D. Lytle and Mrs. R. DeArmond of Vale will begin shortly after.

The public is invited to attend the flower show. Tea will be served throughout the afternoon. In the evening the Nyssa orchestra will play from 8 to 9 p. m., when the doors close. McLing; prize, Mrs. Dick Tensen; tea, Mrs. T. D. Newell; judges, Mrs. J. J. Sarazin; registration, Mrs. C. Klinsberg; properties, Mrs. Ruth Brooks; hostess, Mrs. Dick Groot, Mrs. Jess Thompson, Mrs. C. L. McCoy, Mrs. C. C. Cotton, Mrs. Sarazin, Mrs. Tensen.

NAMPA MAN ROBBED NEAR BIG BEND

When returning to Nampa from the Applegate roadhouse in Big Bend, Virgil Daniels of Nampa was held up by two armed bandits near the Idaho line Monday night. Daniels slipped his wallet under the car seat so lost only a little change in his pocket. That same night burglars took a safe from a service station in Caldwell which contained over $50 in cash and valuable records.

Later that night, Idaho officers decided to investigate a car bearing an Oregon license in Nampa. They gave chase but lost the car near Houston. Officers are continuing their investigations.

DANCE AT GYM TONIGHT

The Eagles lodge is giving a dance at the Nyssa gymnasium tonight, the Crystal Ball Room orchestra of Ontario returning for the affair. The gym has a splendid hardwood floor which has been placed in good condition for dancing.

Marshall Spell and son Toby left Friday on a business trip to Pendleton. Miss Rachel Keithley of Midvale is the guest of her sister Mrs. Russel Vinsonhaler.
