YOUTHS ON TRIP FIND HAVEN IN PHOENIX CAMP

When Kenneth Williams and his cousin went south several weeks ago, they were looking for work. Being young and unmarried and in the transient or "gypsy" class, they found jobs as scarce as "hen's teeth." But this proved a good world after all. They heard of a boys' camp opened by the government at Phoenix, Ariz., so they went to look it over. It proved to be a sort of outdoor college with a welcome for all boys.

Kenny and his pal study auto mechanics in the morning and in the afternoon attend radio school. A cot and three square meals a day are thrown in for good measure.

Kenny says the boys' camps, established in many of the larger cities, are fine, if they are all like the one at Phoenix.

NRA OFFICIALS FROM BOISE DISCUSSES NATIONAL PROGRAM; PALUMBO PAINTS BRIGHTER OUTLOOK FOR APPLE GROWERS

Cheerfulness over the outlook for business and agriculture in the Snake river valley, where the flow of CWA checks and slowly increasing farm returns are pushing buying power ahead, was reflected in talks made at the meeting of the associated chambers of commerce at the Nyssa Cafe Monday evening. A heartening stability was pictured.

J. B. Bretherton, member of the NRA compliance board of Boise, gave an excellent talk on the national recovery program and also explained the workings of his particular board. The raising of prices, out of line with increased costs resulting from NRA compliance, was rapped by several speakers.

President J. C. Palumbo of Payette painted a brighter picture for apple growers. He reported that a solid trainload of apples is leaving this valley for the east at the present time. He shipped 18 cars to Rotterdam, Holland, this week. Every day inquiries come from brewers of wine. He believes real will stimulate apple prices—as well as individuals.

Mr. Palumbo announced that the next meeting will be held in Boise in February. TURTLES COME WITH LETTERS

TINY PAIR JOIN LARGE COLONY OF GOLDFISH AND LONESOME NEWT FROM SANDY.

By parcel post, a pair of turtles traveled to Nyssa last week and now they are very much at home in the big aquarium in the window of the Nyssa Realty company. They are small turtles, no larger than a dollar, with brilliant markings on the under side of their bodies. When removed from the water, they resemble small shells, with even their small heads tucked inside.

The turtles could not possibly get lonesome for five varieties of goldfish, numbering 54, are swimming about in the tank. The member of the colony who might get lonesome is the newt, which George Ray brought from the Sandy river near Portland, but lonesome or not it is making much growth since it was released in the tank. Sea plants in the tank are beautiful.

TENSEN HEADS CREDIT GROUP

LOCAL RANCHER IS MALHEUR DIRECTOR OF IDAHO FARM LOAN ASSOCIATION.

For the purpose of financing crop production, the Southwestern Idaho Production Credit association was organized in Caldwell last Thursday and that city was made headquarters. Pieter Tensen, local rancher, was appointed director to represent Malheur county, Oregon, which with ten Idaho counties will form a part of the association, unless a separate association should be granted to Malheur county.

Capitalization was placed at $300,000, enabling the association to make loans to farmers amounting to $1,500,000. Upon approval by the Producers' Credit corporation of Spokane, a charter will be received and a manager and other active officials appointed.

The local credit association will grant loans to individual farmers for all production purposes, upon a sound collateralized basis. Borrowers will be required to subscribe 5 per cent of their loan to class B stock in their association. The Regional Production Credit corporation will subscribe for class A stock to meet the balance of needed capitalization. This will enable the local association to discount through the Federal Intermediate Credit bank up to approximately five times the local association's combined A and B capital.

Loans will be open to all types of farmers, except for the livestock industry. Special statewide livestock associations have been tentatively formulated.

Carroll Tucker, owner for the Terteling company, is in the Holy Rosary hospital with severe chest injuries and painful cuts about the face and head and his car is a complete wreck as the result of an accident which occurred at Dunaway about 9 o'clock Monday night.

Although he hardly knows just what happened, he has told friends that his car, a new V-8 coach, failed to make the curve, struck the railroad tracks and careened into the warehouse of the General Construction company where it took out a few timbers.

George Gavert heard the crash and found Tucker unconscious. He was removed from the wreckage and taken to the hospital where he is still under treatment. It is believed that he struck the steering wheel with terrific force as it is badly bent. No one was in the car with him.

Tucker has two brothers who also work on the project for Terteling company, Kenneth and Gene. Friends hope for his early recovery. According to reports, the car was covered by insurance.
