INA CLAIRE BRINGS LATE COMEDY HIT

Ina Claire has the role of a girl with the disarming complex in Samuel Goldwyn's film version of last season's big New York comedy stage hit, "The Greeks Had a Word for Them." At the Liberty Theatre in Nyssa Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday.

As the leader of the three "gold-digging" musketeers in this concoction of mad mirth from the witty pen of Zoe Akins, Miss Claire is ably supported by Madge Evans and Joan Blondell.

The story concerns the escapades of this trio who are the best of friends until a millionaire looms on the horizon. Then a mad scramble results.
