DIRECTORS SEE DIRT FLY ON OWYHEE SYSTEM

ENGINEER BODEN TAKES BOARD OVER DISTRIBUTION SYSTEM YESTERDAY; PARTY LUNCHEONS AT TERTELING CAMP.

Only a trip over the Owyhee irrigation project can reveal what an immense construction program is under way through the expenditure of $5,000,000 on the distribution system which will mean the irrigation of 15,000 acres of land within the Mitchell butte unit next spring, reports the Owyhee directors who accompanied Engineer O. G. Boden over the entire works Wednesday.

In Tunnel Canyon where the Shea company made headquarters during the building of the two large tunnels, Morrison-Knudsen is building bench flume which will skirt the hill in place of canal through rough stretches. Control works are also under construction. Morrison-Knudsen have another camp at the site of Owyhee river siphon. Camp was set up recently and excavation is under way.

Guy Bailey took the party through the tunnel which will run through the saddle behind Mitchell butte. John Klug is building siphon works. From there the party went to the east tip of Mitchell butte where the canal makes a drop of 200 feet into a section of ditch which will join the "Shoestring." The party drove along the bank of the North canal for several miles, and inspected sections which will be as much as 60 feet deep.

A delicious lunch at Terteling camp proved one of the most enjoyable features of the trip. Engineer Boden then drove over another stretch of canal and to the head of the Malheur river siphon. In the hunt were Directors J. J. Sarazin, C. C. Hunt, M. L. Judd and Frank T. Morgan, secretary of the district.

PORTLAND MAN TELLS SET-UP OF FERA PLAN

ASSOCIATED CHAMBERS OF COMMERCE ELECT CLAIRE BALDRIDGE OF PARMA PRESIDENT FOR COMING YEAR; NEXT MEETING IN BAKER JUNE 11.

M. Claire Baldrige of Parma was elected president; W. J. Pinney of Ontario, vice-president; and Lee Fisk of Parma, secretary, at the annual meeting of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of the Snake river valley in Emmet Monday evening. Retiring officers were J. C. Palumbo of Payette, former president; and Frank T. Morgan, secretary the past year.

Representing Marshall N. Dana of Portland, chairman of the Oregon planning committee for federal emergency relief administration, C. A. McClure gave an interesting report on the line-up for FERA. He stated that the plan is to have each community represented by a local planning committee which would devise projects of public benefit. This committee is to be appointed by the mayor which will act with himself, the city attorney and city engineer. Mr. McClure stated that the Administration held the view that the CWA program was a success to the end that it provided labor for unemployed men but doubted if full value was given in projects of public benefit in keeping with the money expended. The planning boards for FERA have been delegated to correct this situation.

Projects eligible under the 13-point requirement of FERA are water works, sewage systems, sanitation, streets, schools and playgrounds. Federal allocations must be spent on labor only while materials must be supplied by local agencies.

Baker Chamber of Commerce extended an invitation to the associated chambers to meet in their city on June 11 and be their guests at the Baker Country Club golf links the following day which is Sunday.

Early Sun Brings Out Rattlesnakes; Camp Ge. Scare

When the warm sun of an early spring brought the flowers out ahead of season, it also awakened the hibernating rattlesnakes on the Owyhee desert south of Nyssa where numerous men and their families are living in construction camps on the Owyhee project. Hissing rattlers almost caused an uproar in the tunnel camp of the General Construction company Tuesday.

Mrs. Wm. Drain, wife of a tunnel employee, had a narrow escape when she stepped onto the porch at the rear of her trailer house and found a big rattler curled up in the corner. To escape she had to pass him, she was afraid to call for fear he would attack. Badly frightened she remained in a corner until her husband arrived.

Norville Leuck drove over a snake at the camp while many others have been killed by workmen the last few days. A lizard called on Ray Kendler, time-keeper, in his small office.

FISHIN' IS GOOD ON BURNT RIVER EARLY BIRDS SAY

So far as is known Roy Pounds and Ted Newell were among the first from this community a'fishing to go, so they told the first fish story. About dawn Sunday they left with their bait for the whispering pines and gurgling brook in the Burnt river mountains. They arrived at 8 o'clock. They pulled so many speckled trout from the creek they had ample for two starving fishermen at luncheon time. In addition they had numbers to bring home—in fact they caught their limit before noon. They were home in time to cook another trout feed for supper.

Others on Burnt river Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Bean and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Flygg of Snively camp.

Burnt river is extremely low for this time of year. So Pounds says fishermen will do the trout a favor by fishing early.
