4 - H Clubbers
Like Week at Summer School

O. S. C., Corvallis—(Special)—The Four-H club summer session at Oregon State college in June broke all records for numbers and the regular adult session showed an early increase of 100 students over the low point of a year ago, which officials point to as an indication of the lightening of both the financial and educational depression.

Total club registration was 787 compared with 561 last year. Of these 319 were boys and 468 were girls. Leaders commented on the exceptionally high type of youngsters present and their interest in their work and the uniformly good conduct. The adult session brought an early enrollment of 370 not counting those to come for later term courses or those in field parties.

Attending from Malheur county were: Doris Klingback, Evelyn Hawthorn, Vivian Smith and James Nichols, Nyssa; Mildred Swanson and Lamo Gale, Harper; Martha Godwin, Big Bend, and Gene Stewart and Paul Kirby, Ontario. Leaders from here were E. M. Hauser, assistant county agent, and Elsie Walker.

This year a summer session geology camp is being maintained in the upper John Day region in eastern Crook county in charge of Dean E. L. Packard of O.S.C. school of science and Dr. Ralph Lapham of W.S.C. Students are attending from those two colleges and the University of Oregon.

INDISPENSABLE NEWSPAPER

An editor in a middle western town gave local business men and other readers a simple lesson in the value of a newspaper. They had been saying that all advertisers needed was circulation regardless of medium. The editor slyly got out his paper with nothing in it but advertising on the front, back and in-between pages. Just three issues were enough to convince the townspeople, including the advertisers, that a newspaper was preferable to a dodger. The ads were worth little without the usual quota of news, editorials and features which make up a newspaper. Leadville (Colo.) Herald-Democrat.

WHY DOESN'T GOD KILL THE DEVIL?

That is just exactly what God is going to do. Hell-fire is to be prepared especially for the Devil and his angels. See Matt. 25:41. If you or I get into it it will be because we follow the Devil. It has never been intended for us.

But, possibly, the big question in your mind really is, Why didn't God destroy Satan 6000 years or more ago when he first began his rebellion? It is certain that history would read very differently had sin never entered.

We find from the 17th chapter of Revelation, verses 7 to 9, that the trouble started in Heaven. "And there was war in Heaven . . . and the great dragon was cast out, that old serpent, called the Devil and Satan . . . and his angels were cast out with him." The government of Heaven was at stake. This rebellion against God could have been checked temporarily by destroying all the offenders, but such an act would only have raised the question of the justice of God in the minds of myriads of the unfallen angels.

Satan is on trial. God is dealing with this high crime in such a way that there will never again be any occasion for trouble and dissatisfaction in His universe. "What do ye imagine against the Lord? He will make an utter end: affliction shall not rise up the second time." Nahum 1:9 "And there shall be no more curse." Rev. 22:3. We long for that time to come. The years pass slowly. We may not be able to understand why so much delay is necessary.

We must have faith in God. "The Lord is not slack concerning His promise, as some men count slackness; but is long suffering to us-ward, not willing that any should perish, but that all should come to repentance." 2 Peter 3:9. God's attitude is again stated in Ezekiel 18:32. "I have no pleasure in the death of him that dieth."

The responsibility rests upon us. God is more anxious than we are that sin should come to an end. But if we are not ready "the day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night; in which the heavens shall pass away with a great noise, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat, the earth also, and the works that are therein shall be burned up." 2 Peter 3:10. It behooves us then, to watch and be ready.
