KEEP THE SCHOOLS OPEN

During September most American schools are reopening. School buildings have been washed, and books have been taken out of closets—for nine months of "reading, writing, and 'rith-metic." But because of the "pinch of the times" some schools will remain closed.

Town and city governments, seeking to economize, have turned to the educational field and there have begun to remove, one after another, items of expenses until the actual closing of many public schools, and the proposed closing of even more, has become almost a menace.

Particularly at this time, it is deplorable that the educational system should suffer. Now, more than ever before, is there urgent need for an intelligent, well informed citizenry. Is there any more definite assurance of a bright tomorrow than in the well-educated youth of today? In the proposed limitation of accessible knowledge lies a danger which should not be passed by unheeded.

When officials must adjust budgets they should ponder long and exhaust every other opportunity for economy before attacking educational appropriations. It is not to be expected school expenditures will be maintained at previous high levels, but in no event should they be so reduced as to eliminate opportunity for instruction.

Farmer Brown's - - Observations

deer edetur:

i wuz in at swizers cafe tother day and a strange man asts missus swizer to kash a check. "no" sez ma, sez she, "i hav a arangement with the bank, and i agrees not to kash eny checks and the bank agrees not to serve soup."

i notis that skule i started up agin, i allus envie the kids and think when i uster be 1 of them. them ware the gud old days, when i wud be stuck on the skule marm, and we boys allus plaid one ole kat durin recess. we nevir knode what a koatch wuz in them thare days. an boy who smokt a siguret wuz shure goin to hel.

tother day a man with sum skars on his face kaim in to mack's barbur shop fer a shave. mack notist the skars and he sez, sez he "hev i ever shalved you afore?" "no" sez the man sez he "i got them skars in the war."

i hev shure bean buzie the past week, my wief hed the lumbago, and my kow hed a kalf, and i setrfinly wuz almost livin at the barn.

i don't see why sum i don't put in a bank here at nyssie. the town be gettin ahead fast, but you shure need a bank.

speakin about banks, i uster be a tellur, but not in a bank. i wuz a tellur 1 time in a livury staibel. i uster run frum the livury staibel to the salone and tel the boss when eny buddy wanted sumthin. them wuz the gud ole days.

yores trulle, Farmer Brown.

It seems silly to worry about this outbreak of talking sickness, when we know another wave of it is inevitable just before the November election.

KOLONY P.-T. A. ELECTS OFFICERS

At the annual meeting of Kingman Kolony Parent-Teacher association Friday at the home of the Mrs. C. C. Cotton, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Mrs. Cotton, president; Mrs. Maurice Judd, 1st vice-president; Mrs. Florence Vanderford, 2nd vice-president; Mrs. Charles Newbill, Jr., secretary-treasurer. The meeting also honored the teachers Mrs. Vanderford and Miss Grace Johnston. Educational articles by Mrs. Jas. Lane and Mrs. Newbill, a violin solo by Mrs. C. E. Elliott and refreshments rounded out a pleasant afternoon. Mrs. D. C. Duvall, Mrs. Newbill, Sr., and Mrs. Newbill, Jr., assisted the hostess in serving.

MRS. LAMOYNE HURT

Mrs. LaMoyné, wife of Charles LaMoyné of Snively Camp formerly of Nyssa, was quite badly injured while driving to Snively from Boise last week. She was thrown from the car seat when the car struck a deep rut in the road and her back was badly sprained. She was confined to bed when Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Farmer went to see her Sunday at her home in Boise.
