If You're Planning A Change In Your Water Heating System . . .

Let our water heating specialist give you the latest information available on correct methods of heating water for domestic use.

SOON furnace and stove fires will be started to take the chill from the house on cool mornings. And, now is the time when changes in water heating systems are being contemplated.

Whether you are using Electric Water Heating service or not, if you are planning on changing your system, you will find it profitable to make use of our water heating specialist.

Electric Water Heating is designed to fit in with furnace or stove heating systems. It can be employed as a means of guaranteeing an ample and constant supply of hot water, automatically, during the seasons of the year when the furnace or stove is not in use long enough to keep a supply of hot water on hand. This type of service is invaluable and surprisingly low in cost of operation.

Our water heating specialists are available, without cost, to help our customers secure the most efficient water heating service possible. No matter what type of service you are using, if you contemplate a change, telephone for one of these men to call at your home and give you the benefit of his knowledge and advice on what method will give you the kind of water heating service you expect.
