"WATCH FOR TICKS" WARNING SOUNDED

A warning against spotted fever ticks, which already this year have taken the lives of three persons, has been sounded by the Oregon State Motor association for the benefit of all motorists traveling through eastern Oregon.

Although two persons died in Harney county and one in Baker county, the motor association has learned through H. H. Stage, associate entomologist for the United States government, that dangers of the disease exists almost any place east of the Cascade mountains.

The ticks, which attach themselves to both humans and wild and domestic animals, are most often picked up while walking through sagebrush, it was pointed out. When the brush is agitated the parasites are flicked into the air, landing either on the person or on the ground.

While it is considered difficult to identify the tick carrying spotted fever, the motor association explained that the dangerous kind had a mottled appearance of white and brown, their back being light towards the center and dark on the outside. The disease has become widespread only in the past few years.

Precautions against spotted fever were listed as follows:

Before going on a field party involving several days' exposure, obtain an inoculation of a physician.

Otherwise, after each exposure remove your clothing and search carefully for the ticks, even though you have merely stepped out of your car.

Wear high leather boots or tight leggings, and a belt that fits tightly around the waist.

If a tick is found, do not attempt to pull it off or remove it with tweezers. Put a drop of gasoline or turpentine on it, which will force the tick to withdraw its head from the skin. The tick can then be removed easily, without danger of leaving the head imbedded.

CO-OPERATIVE MARKETING SPEAKS...

The co-operative marketing of dairy products, through the Farmers' own organization, establishes an enviable place in business, especially when pictured against the background of depression years and business stagnation.

Mr. Farmer and Business Man:

Look at the picture of business done by the Farmers' Co-operative Creamery during 1934. The figures tell the whole story. We marketed last year 4,687,428 pounds of butter, at a unit cost per pound of 1.9 cents, the lowest in the territory.

Ice Cream, Cheese, Buttermilk, and Dairy equipment sales, essential by-products, brought our business total sales to—

$1,500,000

Our total assets are $339,343.50, WITH NO DEBTEDNESS.

Our membership totals 5900, an increase of 227 progressive farmers during 1934. We have given employment during the year to 65 persons at good wages.

We believe these figures, and this record, merit the careful investigation and consideration of every farmer, particularly those who are not now members of this organization.

This unique record is seldom paralleled. It is not the result of chance, but is the result of co-operative effort in marketing high quality products.
