

Oregon Farms Increase 18 Per Cent As Shown By Farm Census Report

The "back to the farm" movement in Oregon is very definitely seen in the report just made by the Bureau of Census of this state just released this week. Preliminary tabulations of the 1935 Census of Agriculture returns for the State of Oregon given out by Director William L. Austin, of the Department of Commerce, disclose 64,961 farms in 1935 compared with 55,153 farms in 1930. This report may vary a little as a further check is made and some farms are taken off the list from places not included in the Census definition of "farm." This is an 18 per cent increase for the five years.

Clackamas county showed the largest increase having a total of 6,200 farms in 1935 as compared with 4,747 farms in 1930, or an increase of 1,453 farms in five years. Linn county was second with 3,844 farms in 1935 compared with 3,074 in 1930 or an increase of 801.

According to the report Malheur county had 1,647 farms in 1935 with 1,345 in 1930 or an increase of 302 in the five years. Harney county showed an increase of 17 farms and Grant county increased 78 farms in the five year period. Baker county with 1,383 farms in 1930 only increased 2 with a total of 1,385 in 1935.

Jefferson county headed the list for decrease in farms with 11 less farms in 1935 than in 1930, having 324 in 1935 and 335 in 1930. Sherman county decreased 2 farms during the same time having 367 in 1935 and 369 in 1930. However, Sherman and Jefferson counties were the only ones to show a decrease.

TEST COMPLETED FOR BANGS DISEASE

The first test for contagious abortion under the Bang's disease eradication program is practically complete in Malheur county according to Dr. A. G. Moore, Veterinarian doing the testing for the U. S. Bureau of Animal Industry.

Approximately 237 herds containing 2231 animals have been tested to date, with a few remaining applications still to be acted on. About 241 reactors have been found and disposed of for slaughter.

Herds which have had reactors in them will be retested after about a 60 day interval, according to Dr. Moore, in order to find any animals that may have contracted the disease since the first test.

Dr. Moore states that all cattle owners that have not had their herds tested but would like to have the service must make application at once, either to him or to the County Agent's office, as he will soon be moved to Harney and Grant counties to do the testing there.
