AFRAID TO GO AHEAD

Webster defines fear as "the painful emotion caused by a sense of impending danger or evil." President Roosevelt in his inaugural message a little more than two years ago said, "The only thing we have to fear is fear itself." Few will forget that challenge that was spread by the press and by the radio, during those dark days. It inspired a nation and the American people responded with willing hearts to that appeal.

By popular mandate unprecedented and almost unlimited powers were granted. An entirely new set of rules to meet emergency conditions was devised and the cooperation of business men was asked for in the observance and development of these regulations affecting industry.

For a time the nation made great progress, and no doubt we are still making progress; but something is holding the nation back. Wendell L. Willkie expressed this thought in an article entitled, "The New Fear." He said, "I want to say with as much sincerity and solemnity as I can command, that in my judgment, there is only one thing that has halted the nation's economic recovery and that is the very thing which the President told us he would eradicate from our hearts. The thing that is holding us back is fear."

Quoting further from Mr. Willkie's article, he says, "The fear that I speak of now is a different kind of fear than that which prevailed at the time of the President's message. It then might have been described as a fear of blind economic forces. That fear has now been dissipated. But the fear of American industry today is the fear of the hostile attitude of Government itself."

This seems to be the general criticism of the New Deal. Many feel the administration is trying to make too many changes and radical innovations. If a reasonable and fair legislative program for American business is adopted, business leaders believe we will enter at once upon a period of gradual, but steady economic recovery.

EDITORIAL BRIEFS—

There is one nice thing about this clamor to "sock the rich." An editor can listen in without fear of being swatted.

Secretary Morgenthau announces that the recent $100,000,000 federal bond issue sold on an auction basis has been marketed at an average price of $103.18, to yield an average of 2.62 per cent to the purchaser. This seems the best evidence that in spite of heavy federal expenditures, unusual legislation and an unbalanced budget that the great money interests continue to accept Uncle Sam as the safest of all debors.

EDITORIAL COMMENTS BY CLARK WOOD

The man who "pays as he goes" is, from all appearances, going fast.

For still another year the locators of mining claims will not have to work their assessments. This gives them more time in which to work their backers.

Soviet Russia has taken up baseball, and we suppose the player who runs to an occupied bag is shot at sunrise.

When television enables us to see a crooner, it won't be the crooner that makes a smashing hit.

When the graduates do their fondling now, it's the sheepskin they love to touch.

Our complaint about congressional "passing the buck" is that one is never passed near enough for us to reach it.

Let's be glad that Uncle Sam is still able to keep his legs while the Ship of State is payroll on.

We are sure now that the good Doctor Einstein is a smart man. Not long ago he refused to talk because he had nothing to say.

If it becomes an established practice, soaking the rich is likely to be easier than finding them.

LOWER COST DRIVING

The expenditure of $4.31 for fuel (including taxes) of his diesel powered automobile when he reached Cheyenne from New York Monday proved that Clesie L. Cummings has perfected the engine until it is practical for automotive use. No longer the cumbersome slow accelerating bulky engine of a few years ago the diesel now can compete in performance with the internal combustion gas engine in both automobiles and airplanes and in economy it far outstrips the other type.

Another straw in the wind, showing that the American public is finally getting somewhere in the long struggle for more economical power, instead of more and more expensive power is the story of a Canadian inventor who has perfected a new storage battery by which he can store enough energy at a cost of 10 cents to run his car 1000 miles. The battery, weighing some 200 pounds, is the heart of his new car, and it drives four separate motors connected directly with each wheel of the car doing away with hundreds of parts and providing sure traction in bad weather. A car embodying the new principle is said to be ready for public showing in August.

There always is a gap between early claims and actual performance but it appears that the time has come at last when more economical transportation will become a reality.—Buhl Herald

THE SO-CALLED "SHARE THE WEALTH" BILL.

President Roosevelt's so-called "share the wealth" bill through which is expected a redistribution of the wealth by taxation of large fortunes is meeting considerable opposition with charges being made that it is a political gesture taken from Huey Long's camp and will not bring in near the revenues reported.

While the principle of "soaking the rich" carries a boomerang and is most dangerous there can be little question that the same tax burden should be placed on the rich and opulent in proportion to their wealth, as is now placed on the poor and the man of moderate means.

The United States is particularly lame in the matter of inheritance taxes as compared to other countries, and we know that thousands of thousands of the wealthy escape their just taxation by placing their money in tax-exempt bonds.

As a comparison if a man dies in the United States and leaves $100,000, his estate would pay a tax of $1,500. In England it would pay $9,000 and in France $36,997.78. In this country an estate of $300,000 now pays a tax of $19,500 in England $28,000 and in France $130,789.78. On an estate of $1,000,000 in this country an inheritance tax of $117,500 would be paid; in England $270,000 would be paid, while France would collect just $504,373.18 of the million dollars. And it should be remembered that these countries have never been accused of "soaking the rich" or "dividing the wealth."

It is unfortunate that the president's tax bill became known as a measure to redistribute the wealth, for of course, this is a misnomer. The bill in reality will collect something over $300,000,000 a year in taxes from the upper brackets, but as far as "dividing the wealth" it will be but a raindrop in the Pacific. SUMMER ADVERTISING GOOD Local merchants who intend to get their share of the fall business can take a step forward by advertising in the summer.

Too many store-keepers think that the time to advertise is when everybody else is doing so forgetting that when the other man lays off the field is wide open. Then much of the value of advertising is to be found in the good will created, and this can be done very effectively in slack periods when other stores are content to keep silent. The merchants who will do justicous advertising between the first of July and the fall trade will find the groundwork prepared for bigger results when the money begins to come home. Many a sale is made months before the customer comes into the store.—Minadoka County News.
