ARMY ENLISTMENT WILL BE INCREASED

"Under the provisions of the recently enacted National Defense Bill, the War Department will increase the enlisted personnel of the Army from 118,000 to about 165,000, or an increase of some 45,000 men during the next year.

About 15,000 of this increase is expected to be effected by September by recruiting agencies of the Army at large, and to District Recruiting Officers has been allotted the big task of enlisting this large number of men within a comparatively short space of time.

Extensive plans are now under way in the Portland Recruiting District to meet this problem according to word received from Major H. D. Bagnall the Army Recruiting Officer, in Portland, Oregon. The Portland office presents a busy scene these days and as a part of the expansion program, two additional recruiting sub-stations were recently established; one at Medford and the other at Pendleton, Oregon. The recruiting personnel of the District has been increased by two officers and seven non-commissioned officers in anticipation of a busy campaign. Plans are also being completed to send two recruiting parties, each party consisting of one officer and two non-commissioned officers, on state-wide canvassing tours. Approximately four months time will be spent in covering all of the towns of five hundred population and over, in the States of Oregon and Southern Washington. It is planned to publish itineraries of these parties as they get under way and to post advance notices of their arrival in each town.

Numerous vacancies exist in Army branches at the present time, including assignments to the 7th Infantry at Vancouver Barracks, Washington, 3rd Coast Artillery, Fort Stevens, Oregon, and the Chemical Warfare Service and Coast Artillery in the Philippine Islands. Vacancies for Infantry, China, and 7th Infantry, Chilkoot Barracks, Alaska, are available to former service men. Inquiries regarding enlistments should be addressed to the Army Recruiting Office 323 New Post Office Building in Portland.

The following states were represented in the national finals of the Better Housing essay contest: Oregon, Idaho, New Jersey, Nebraska, Massachusetts, Illinois, Michigan, and Washington, D. C.
