Using Honey

By Mrs. W. W. Foster

Apples will soon be plentiful and we find that honey is the real sweetening for plain applesauce, with a little cinnamon or a teaspoon of vanilla, if you like. Try apples in this pudding.

Honey Brown Betty

Put a layer of sliced tart apples in buttered bake dish. Drizzle with a tablespoon of honey, a dash of cinnamon and a little grated lemon rind. Cover with bread crumbs mixed with melted butter. Alternate layers of apples and crumbs, till the last layer of crumbs. Bake about one hour. Serve with cream.

Jellies Made with Honey

General suggestions for jelly as sent out by the American Honey Institute are these:

Crab apple, apple, plum, grape and currant jelly can be successfully made by using 3-4 cup of honey to 1 cup of juice, half honey and half sugar may be used too. Boil the juice 10 minutes, add the sugar if using half and half, and bring to the boiling point. Add honey and cook about ten minutes briskly. Pour into sterilized glasses and cover with paraffin.
