

WALKING ON AIR

Jack Brittingham, brilliant California end, seems to be treading on air as he intercepts this Trojan pass in the third quarter of the California-U. S. C. game. The Bears won, 21 to 7, to continue their drive toward the Pacific Coast Conference championship.

'CIVIL WAR' MAY DECIDE TITLE

California, U. C. L. A., Only Undeclared Teams, Meet in L. A.

A house divided against itself must fall, said Abraham Lincoln, but on Saturday a house divided against itself may very well produce the Pacific Coast Conference football champion of 1935.

The University of California and its younger brother, the University of California at Los Angeles, the only undefeated conference eleven, meet in Los Angeles' Coliseum, and the winner must be conceded the inside track toward the West-end title.

He Can't Lose
Only sure winner of the day is Doctor Robert Gordon Sproul, who, as president of both institutions, must divide his allegiance, sit on both sides of the field during the game.

On this game, too, hinges the hopes of Southern California fans for a grid champion, something they have become quite used to. Last week, the romping Golden Bears downed the Trojans of U. S. C., who always before have borne the main burden of Southern California ambitions. The score was 21 to 7, might well have been 21 to 0 but for a mysterious kick which was blocked and converted into a touchdown. It was the last play of the game.

The U. C. L. A. Bruins added to their surprising string of victories by wallowing Oregon, 33 to 6. Despite that crushing defeat, Oregon's coach, Prink Callison, still leans toward the Berkeley Bears to win Saturday. Said Prink to the Associated Oil Company Football Scout, "The Bears are too strong defense."
