SCHOOL PLAY

The cast for the student body play "Look Out Lizzie" has finally been selected. The play deals with the farm life of the Long family. Hazel Long is in love with the handsome Richard Biltmore, a stranger on a secret mission; their hired man Hank, who is as slow as a crippled snail; and Lizzie their hired girl, who is slower yet. Then there is Minnie the neighborhood gossip, and Dave the middle aged miser.

JOKES

Miss Denny: What kind of a noun is trousers?
Warren Larsen: An uncommon noun because it is singular at the top and plural at the bottom.
Mr. Shoemaker: How can we tell the approach of winter, Joe?

I say to you goes in one ear and out the other.
Irene Poage: Is that why we have two ears?
Paul Johnston: "Goodbye, Sir, and I'm indebted to you for all I know."

Mary had a little lamb,
Her father shot it dead;
And now it goes to school with her,
Between two chunks of bread.

Just step to the phone, tell us when to call for your bundle and from that very moment you will be in the Free. A land where there are no wash days to sap your strength, make an old woman of you, and (as often happens) pile up doctor bills on you. Remember ROUGH DRY takes less out of your purse than the cost of doing the washing at home.

We'll wash your garments in rich, warm suds of purest soap. We'll rinse them in gallons of rain soft water, and return them to you immaculately clean, with all flat work ironed.

Take your first step to freedom by stepping to the phone and telling us when to call for your bundle.
