A party composed of Dr. E. D. Norcott, Dick Young, Berwyn and Ronald Burke spent last Thursday, Friday and Saturday fishing at East Lake south of Bend. FARMERS URGED TO TAKE ADVANTAGE OF NEW PROGRAM

The series of meetings scheduled by County Agent Raymond G. Larson for the purpose of assisting farmers in preparing work sheets as required under the 1936 Agricultural Conservation Act have been completed and a very satisfactory sign-up has been made.

Since this series of meetings some new regulations have been received by the County Agent which will make it possible for a great many more people to receive benefits under this program. The principal change in the regulations has to do with classification of crops and soil building practices which may be employed to earn the soil building payment. The principal changes in the classification of crops are that wild meadow lands which show any amount of tame grasses in them are now classified as soil conserving instead of neutral. Also orchard lands have been taken out of the neutral class and will be classified according to the use made of the land not occupied by the trees. For example, if an orchard is clean cultivated it becomes soil depleting. If an orchard is planted to alfalfa it becomes soil conserving. These changes will permit a great many people to participate in the program who could not do so prior to these rulings.

The additional soil building practices which favor the program in this County particularly are the rulings which permit the plowing under or discing in of an entire alfalfa crop and which will help earn the soil building allowance at the rate of six dollars per acre. This applies directly to the orchard men but may assist in earning the payment on some farms.

Also changes have been made in the regulations in regard to noxious weeds and their control which will work to the advantage of many. Farmers in the County should remember that work sheets must be filed with the County Agent's office before they are eligible to participate in the program and receive payments. As yet no closing date has been announced for the receiving of work sheets, but it is expected that such closing date will be announced a little later.
