IRONSIDE NEWS

Eldorado grange held its regular meeting on June 12th with a large crowd, almost every member being present. Four new members were obligated after the business was disposed of. The lecturer, Mrs. Earl Lofton, entertained with a delightful program, consisting of pantomimes, calling contests, readings, songs, debates, etc., in honor of Mothers and Fathers Days. Upon entering the hall each mother was presented with a yellow rosebud and each father a red rosebud. Later in the evening each mother was presented with a pretty handkerchief and each father with a bag of delicious home made candy. The entertainment was greatly enjoyed by all. Mrs. Walter Laurance of Strawberry grange 661, Prairie City, was a visitor. The HE chairman served refreshments to close the meeting.

Mrs. Walter Laurance and son Rolland of Prairie City have been visiting at the parental E. J. Beam home the past week.

Kenneth Grabner and Norma White were Vale visitors last Monday.

Miss Ina Rose has been spending the past two weeks visiting at the home of her cousin Hazel Rose of Vale.

The E. J. Beams, Mr. and Mrs. Coy Wise, Mrs. Walter Laurance and son were Ontario visitors last Wednesday.

Among those from here attending the grange dance at Unity last Saturday were Mr. and Mrs. Floyd White and daughter Norma, Adeline Fish, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Cammann, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Beam and daughters Mrs. Herbert Van Cleave and Mrs. Walter Laurance, Arthur Beam, Nellie and James Cape and the Earl Lofton family. The Ironside Hillbillies Eldorado Grange orchestra furnished the music.

Hooks and Slices

One of the largest crowds yet attended the golf tournament at the local course Sunday. Several farmers turned out for the meet and succeeded in giving their city cousins a good trouncing on the golf course.

Some of the best players claimed by the "farmers" were C. C. Hunt, Klaus Tensen, Chas. Overstreet and Jim Farmer. The reclamation boys were out with a good sized representation and turned in some of the lowest scores of the day.

It is reported on pretty reliable authority that two of the business men lost two golf clubs and a can of tobacco the first round, and if it hadn't been for "Butch" Burbridge and Chas. Overstreet, they would have some explaining to do.

Aden Wilson, C. L. McCoy and Klaus Tensen were all tied at 45 on their second round and took one putt to decide the tie. Klaus Tensen's eagle-eyed putting won the round for him.

"Butch" Burbridge and A. L. Fletcher claim they haven't played much golf but from the low scores they turned in Sunday, some of the boys have a faint suspicion they must be slipping off somewhere to do their practicing. It's a cinch they didn't learn to shoot their kind of golf on a miniature course.

Wendell Pogue is troubled a bit with keeping his shots on the fairway but when the final scores are added you always find him right in the running. It's concentration that does it, he claims.

Klaus Tensen more than covered himself with glory in winning the putting contest, sinking two out of five from the edge of the green.

Chas. Overstreet, Jim Farmer, Art Norcott, Ed. Pruyn and A. L. Fletcher all tied for second by sinking one of their putts in the putting contest.

Walter Kall won the approach contest by coming within five feet of the target at 100 yards distance.

Howard Larsen won second honors, his approach being but a foot and a half farther from the target than Kall's. It's no wonder Walt and Howard consistently shoot such low scores.

Ernest Wilson says if the game was scored like baseball he would have won the prize. All he needs is practice, he says, and threatens to par the course after three more days like Sunday.

John Young tangled with Calvin and Lloyd Wilson to a putting match and took the younger boys into camp but was all wore out doing it. The Wilson boys expect to challenge the coach for a return match.

Art Boydell and Dick Adams failed to get their golfing fued settled, although they played 27 holes, and both claimed a victory. Dick says he's going to bring out a transit next week to level up his shots, but Art won't be caught napping. He's ordered a special 300 yard driver and a single shot putter.

While some of the other boys were taking practice shots at the approach target, C. L. McCoy out-putted three of the boys for a special prize.

"Diamond" McClure and John Bowen earned the reputation Sunday of being two of the hardest drivers on the course. Its a good thing they don't all drive like these two boys or the holes would have to be moved back so they could really get a good drive.

Clark Enos was making it tough on the boys Sunday by laying them on the green with his first and second shots. Its hard to beat that kind of golf.

Chas. Overstreet plays a steady game of golf and just wouldn't be beat. He says its quite a bit like driving a tractor, all you have to do is go straight down the row, turn fast, and go straight down the next one.

Divot diggers are planning to have another big day Sunday and to start a handicap tournament on that day. Everyone is invited to turn out for a good time.
