

Two Who Chose Rings

Wanda Cantrall

Thelma Root

Miss Cantrall and Miss Root, two of the prize winners in The Journal's subscription campaign, both selected rings for their awards. Miss Cantrall chose a Ruby in a mounting of white gold and Miss Root chose the Alexandrite set in a so'ld white gold mounting trimmed with yellow gold. LaVena Phillips, another of the prize winners (not pictured) was awarded the black enamel double compact.

EXECUTIVE P. T. A. BOARD MEETS AT JUDD HOME

A very active P. T. A. year is starting, if the enthusiasm shown at the first executive board meeting of the Kingsman Colony P. T. A. is an indication. The program for the first of the year will deal with juvenile protection, safety, better English among school children and peace education. The unit will continue to assist the school board with their hot lunch project.

Mrs. Paul Theil, Mrs. Conrad Martin, Mrs. Wm. Govey and Mrs. Ted Rogers were appointed to solicit vegetables to be canned or stored for winter use of the hot lunch project. Plans were made for the teachers reception to be held Friday evening and also for a Halloween party to be staged later.

Mrs. Chas. Newbill was elected as the new social chairman and on each social occasion she will appoint three new members to assist in the arrangements.

The meeting of the executive board was held at the Maurice Judd home Tuesday afternoon, with the following present: Mrs. Ted Rogers, president; Mrs. C. C. Cotton, vice-president and chairman of the hospitality committee; Mrs. R. R. Overstreet, secretary; Mrs. Dale Ashcraft, Membership chairman; Mrs. Conrad Martin, magazine chairman Mrs.

Chas. Newbill, social chairman; Mrs. Maurice Judd, publicity chairman and Mrs. H. R. Otis, program chairman.
