A special program was prepared by Mrs. F.A. Miller, consisting of piano solo by Mrs. Miller and Evelyn Haworth, the welcome greeting to the teacher was kindly and fittingly addressed by

Mrs. Wm. Brewer, Evelyn Haworth gave a review of her trip to Salem to the State Fair and Eleanor Haworth and John Timmerman, club winners told of their experience at two weeks summer school at Corvallis. A guessing game kept the older people busy. A delicious lunch was served.

Overstreet responded to the toast: "Our Guests—The Club inlaws; Mrs. R.L. Haworth—Books, in particular books our club has reviewed, discussed, loved or lost. Blocks and Tackles

Some of the football results in the starting of high school play last week were: Parma 25, Roswell 6; Fruitland 14, Notus 0; Caldwell 20, Payette 0; Emmett 14, Franklin 0; and Eagle 0, Middleton 0; Vale 0, Boise 19; Weiser 25, Halfway Oregon 0; The team from College of Idaho defeated Albion Normal 15 to 0 in a night game Friday evening, and this week the College team is going to McMinville to play Linfield to open their conference season.

Some of the games in this vicinity over the week end will see Ontario matched with Weiser, Payette plays at Emmett; Vale plays at Parma and Fruitland will be guests of the Nyssa eleven.

Boys on the local grid squad are showing improvement by hard drill, but still lack polish. A much improved team will take the field against Fruitland, however; and a good deal more weight has been added to the line. Coach Young found out in last Friday's fracas with Wilder that his boys could outplay their opponents the first half, but were too light to stand the gaff, and were pretty weak at the finish.

A new boy entered school this week, Jack Esposito by name, and is being used in an end position. Jack played tackle for Ontario last year and is expected to solve Coach Young's problem at one of the ends. He weighs 170, which makes him one of the larger boys on the team.

Jerry Rust is in school this week, but was not available for the game with Wilder. He is expected to make quite a difference when he gets his 185 pounds working opening up holes in the opposing line. Jerry was a regular tackle last year. Bob Leuck is now recovered from a recent sick spell and will likely be in the lineup Friday against Fruitland. He plays a guard or tackle position, and although he only weighs 150 pounds, he's not an easy man to handle.

Lankford may be used Friday in an end position if he gets in enough practice. Lankford played half back last year but is a vicious tackler and is showing promise at end. Vaughn White is also showing up well in practice and may draw an end assignment Friday. Zamora, freshman player, has been playing guard, but may not get into the game Friday due to irregular practice attendance. He seems to have plenty of natural ability, but has played very little football and will need plenty of practice before he can match wits with experienced men.

The second team made monkeys out of the varsity part of the time in practice this week, which seems to indicate that very few of the varsity players have their positions for certain. Before very long we expect to see some of the outstanding performers on the second squad exchange places with some of the varsity. The boys on the second squad are smaller but don't know when they're beat, which is the true football spirit. Some of the boys who look good for varsity berths later on are Stanley Ray, Patterson, Kurtz, McKee, Landreth, Warren and Points. There are probably others which hard practice will bring to the front.

Theima Rogers, who represented Apple Valley drew the lucky envelope which made her queen of the festival during Friday and Saturday. Due to the absence of Governor Ross, the queen was crowned by Attorney Anderson. She was attended by six maids of honor representing the surrounding communities.
