NOTES NECESSARY

A negro preacher called on a white minister and found the latter writing. "What you doin'?" asked the colored parson. "I'm preparing my notes for next Sunday's sermon." "I suttinly nevah would do that. Don't you know the debil is looking right ova your shouldah an' knows everything yo' gwine t' say? Now, I don't make no notes, and when I gets up to talk, neither me nor th' debil himself knows what I'm gwine t' say."

A Different Matter

Alf Alfey—How long has that hired man worked for you?
Rube Barbe—About two days, I guess.
Alf—I thought he had been here more than a month.
Rube—He has.—Exchange.

Going Yet

Solicitor—In that case you may have grounds for a separation. When did your husband desert you?
Client—Last night. I stopped to look in a milliner's window—and he walked on.

MODERN WIFE

Mr. Newlywed—Why have you those fashion plates out in addition to the cook book, my dear?
Mrs. Newlywed—I thought I'd need both in making flannel cakes.

Wouldn't Blame Her

Sadie—My spinster aunt said if ever a man tried to make love to her she'd call in the authorities.
Alma—Yes, the justice of the peace and the chief of the Marriage License bureau. —Chelsea Record.

This Time It Was

The telephone girl was on her vacation. One day she was out fishing when some one in another boat called, "Hello!" Just then she got a bite.
"Line's busy," she answered.

Old Man

Old Lady—And how many are there in your family, my boy?
Lad—Eight.
Old Lady—Mercy! And are you the oldest?
Lad—No'm. Papa is.

Drawing a Distinction

"Every man is entitled to his own opinion."
"Yes," replied Senator Sorghum, "but he shouldn't be encouraged to express it in a way that constitutes it a public nuisance."

The Old Sport

Rich Aunt—And when you grow up, little man, never have anything to do with the bookmakers.
Little Man—Not likely. The mutuels for me every time.—Lewis-ton Journal.

Deliberation

"Is a diplomat supposed to tell the truth?"
"Oh, yes. But he is often permitted to take his time about discovering it."

Let a Classified ad sell it.

The 4-H club delegation from Malheur county totaled 38, all report a splendid trip to Summer school at Corvallis.

There was between 17 and 18 hundred enrolled this year, with class work and all recreational programs running more smoothly than ever before. This was the largest summer school ever to be held in the state of Oregon or in any other state west of the Mississippi river.

There are 33 counties in Oregon carrying club work which consists of 37 different projects. The city of Portland carries the most club work of any city in the whole USA.

In addition to the many things learned in class work 4-H members are also privileged to hear speakers who are state wide people such as Mrs. Maud Morse, chancellor Hunter, O. M. Plummer and many others. As a source of higher education club work is tied up very closely with school work. No doubt all of these young men and women who attend summer school have brought back with them a number of things which will be put to use in doing a better piece of work next year.
