Advice To The Road-Worn

E. W. PRUYN, Auto Repair
Nyssa, Oregon

Gentlemen:

You have no idea what I am going through. Goodness! Do I slap! I have such terrible pains in my pistons that I am not sure I can live through the month. And when I breathe these cold morning, it's like sniffing sulphuric acid through my carburetor.

And on top of all this, the brute keeps me in a garage like an icebox. I haven't even enough spark left to kick when he tries to crank me.

Oh, what shall I do? Help me, if you are half a man, help me. I can't stand it, I tell you.

Your suffering friend,
Little Alice Auto.

Dear Little Alice Auto:

Tut, tut, mustn't kick, whatever you do. But your case is sad, indeed. Just come in to us, however, and we'll fix up those bad old pistons so they won't trouble you again for a long time. We'll fix that starter too.

What if he does keep you in a cool garage? If you were in good condition, you wouldn't mind that at all. As to your poor little carburetor, we can adjust that in a jiffy, and the cold morning air will invigorate you rather than make you snuffle.

Sincerely,
E. W. PRUYN, Auto Repair.
