HIGHWAY COURTESY—

VERY Oregon motorist can perform a service to his state by a courteous attitude toward visiting motor tourists, declares Dr. E. B. McDaniel, president of the Oregon State Motor Association...

Good motoring manners as well as a proper regard for the business value of Oregon's immense and growing tourist travel trade requires an attitude of hospitable courtesy toward "the stranger within our gates," the motorist leader declared.

"While displays of discourtesy on the highway are always a thing to be avoided," he continued, "they are particularly deplorable when the display of bad motoring manners is directed toward a visiting motorist."

"Courtesy is an essential part of hospitality and the Oregon motorist who fails to heed that fact performs a distinct disservice to his state."

"A too rigid insistence as to right of way, unnecessary and irritable blasts of the horn, and other failures of courtesy are bad enough when another home state motorist is involved."

"But when they are directed toward a motorist with out-of-state license plates on his car they very definitely jeopardize Oregon's reputation for hospitality. Visitors are particularly sensitive to the treatment they receive. They eagerly appreciate courtesy, but they also resent and bitterly remember the lack of it."

"Make the visiting motorist traveling in Oregon feel that he is a welcome and appreciated guest, entitled to every courtesy and consideration."

SURELY, NOT POLITICS?—

BIRD hunters in this city and surrounding country are wondering, and with reason, why the Oregon Game Commission abandoned the tagging station here in Nyssa. As it stands now anyone wishing to tag a bird has to drive all the way to Ontario, to get a five cent tag. And of course if you care to, you can store your bird in some Ontario cooler...

THE MIGHT OF THE INDEPENDENT RETAILER—

FIGURES gathered from the U. S. Bureau of the Census, show the independent merchant still controls the nation's business by a vast margin. In the U. S. there are 1,474,149 independent stores and 139,819 chain stores. The independents do 73.1 per cent of the total business of the nation, and chain stores 22.8 per cent; the remaining 4.1 per being done from house to house, by catalogs, etc. These figures prove the might of the "independent" merchant.

THE POWER OF GOSPEL

By Rev. Ernest C. Knoll
Pastor of the Assembly of God Church

1 Thess. 1:5. "For our gospel came not unto you in word only, but also in power, and in the Holy Ghost, and in much assurance."

No Power in the world is as quick, and wonderful as that of the Gospel of Jesus Christ. In our country we try to accomplish the reformation of men and women. We build great institutions with high walls and iron bars. Seemingly this has been the only solution. Men and women are put into cells and the key turned in the lock. Solitary confinement and straight jackets are used in trying to break their spirit and make them do the right thing when they are released. These things may change a person outwardly; but they leave the real man—the hidden man of the heart untouched.

The power of the Gospel of Jesus Christ accomplishes that which locks, keys, jail and straight jackets can never accomplish. The all-powerful Gospel of Jesus Christ is able to open the doors of the prisons of doubt and fear; bring freedom to the captive; light to them that sit in darkness; peace for those in trouble and liberty to those who are bound. Praise God for the Gospel!

Education is splendid! We need it! We must have it! But the power of the Gospel goes deeper than the head. It goes down in to the very heart and not only cleanses and makes white, but it takes all the hatred and bitterness away. It is not a Gospel of words only. It is a Gospel of power! The very entrance of His word giveth light!

The power of the Gospel can change a man. It can really save from sin. It doesn't matter who you are or what your station in life, there is power in the Gospel of Jesus Christ to make you straight with God and with men. It is the thing that can meet the need of every man. It is the only thing that can meet the universal need.

It has been said that years ago when Mr. Moody was young someone sent him a package of novels to read. He read them, but found nothing to really satisfy. Then, one day turning the pages of one of the books he discovered a little pamphlet called, "Salvation to the Uttermost" by Chas. H. Spurgeon. He read and re-read it. Then he fell upon his knees before God, the glory of the Lord Shown down and he was converted. Later he told the story of how he had been born again.

NOVELS COULD NOT DO IT; but the power of salvation through the Blood of Jesus Christ had changed a heart and life and through that life countless other lives have felt the power of the Gospel.

This power is the most mighty force in the whole wide world. It can sweep away down deep into hearts and lives. It can vanquish every enemy, give us joy and peace.

Oh, the comfort of the Gospel of Jesus Christ! It comforts while you are living and it comforts when you come to die.

Word came from Washington that cockroaches have become a nuisance in the national capitol, galloping across the legislators desks and seriously interfering with the work of our lawmakers. Possibly this accounts in part, at least, for the paucity of achievement of the legislative session just closed.

Washington, D. C. motorists are all 'het up' over the attempt to raise the gasoline tax above 2 cents per gallon. They evidently don't appreciate the blessings a benevolent government has showered on them. They should come to Oregon.

There is considerable odium attached to the color red in the political sense, but Representative Wearin of Iowa is one politician for whom it has no terror. A devoted admirer sent him a red necktie in recognition of his liberal views and he has worn red neckties ever since.

Editor Journal—The question of when, if ever, the world is coming to an end is still a burning issue in the minds of many. Ever since Rev. Miller nearly a hundred years ago became imbued with the idea that the end was imminent, the question has exercised the minds of those religiously inclined. Rev. Miller himself set two definite dates for the finish, but nothing happened either time. At various times since definite dates have been set but apparently some mistake was made each time in interpreting various passages of scripture. Even Jesus appears to have fallen down on his date. In reply to a direct question by his Apostles as to when the end would come he enumerated the various signs and wonders that would immediately precede the end and declared: "This generation shall not pass until all these things be fulfilled." Matt. 24. St. John also in Revelations repeatedly stated that the end was at hand.

How are these various predictions to be reconciled with the fact that the end has not yet come, 1900 years after the predictions were made? This is a question that I believe would interest your forum readers and an article by some believer in the near approach of the end, setting forth the thought of the churches on the question would be illuminating and instructive.—Harry Brown.

Folks Worth Knowing On the Owyhee Project

Introducing The Wilson family

By Harry Weidemann

Tucked away on a grand forty acre farm, about one and a half miles west of the Owyhee school, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Wilson, their son and daughter, are finding the answer to all farmer's prayer—Water! Coming from Greeley, Colorado, the Wilson family arrived here on the 12th of March of this year.

The decision to locate on the Owyhee Project was the result of drought in the section from which they moved. This, coupled with an advertisement in the Denver Post advising farmers of the wonders of the Owyhee Project helped to bring our enterprising new neighbors to this district. Mr. Wilson has a brother living in Homedale, Idaho, who can come in for his share of thanks for advising his brother to locate here.

Mr. Wilson has put his farm to good use, for the first year. This spring's crop included oats, wheat and an excellent stand of millet. Besides raising this very fine crop Mr. Wilson has found time to gather together a fine herd of cattle. Most of the farming is done with a tractor although Pete also keeps a span of horses just to make it seem more like a farm!

CHATTER BOX CLUB

The Chatter Box Club met at the home of Mrs. Lloyd Adams last Wednesday afternoon. The afternoon was spent visiting. The program which was to be given by Mrs. A. A. Jamieson was omitted and will be given at the next meeting.

The following guests answered roll call with a favorite recipe: Mesdames C. H. Bennett, Ed Nelson, Orren Choat, Harland Maw, E. L. Jamieson, Virgil McGee, James Stephens, Terhune and A. P. Goodell.

The next meeting will be held at the C. H. Bennett home and a covered dish luncheon will be held at noon. The day will be spent quilting.

Gigantic Warehouses

Handle Produce Crop

ST. LOUIS.—Handling the flow of fruit and vegetables passing through the ten leading auction markets of the United States each year requires the utilization of more than 1,000,000 square feet of warehouse space, according to a bulletin issued here by the American Fruit and Produce Auction Association.

"Through these warehouses swiftly pass more than 100,000 carloads of fruit and produce annually from growers in the producing areas thousands of miles away to big city buyers and on to the consumers," says the bulletin.

"On vast display floors in each auction market, samples of fruit and vegetables in the shipments to be sold each day are examined by the buyers representing jobbers, wholesalers, retailers, chain stores and independents."

"Ware it not for such modern handling and display facilities plus the rapid and efficient sales methods employed on the auction markets, shippers of highly perishable products such as cherries, grapes, citrus and other kinds of fruit and vegetables, could not sell in the vast quantities they do each year."
