

Ye Snooper's Column

Things About Nyssa's Shops

Whist ye that the President of these United States didst pay us a visit on Monday. And whether we do see eye to eye politically with him or not yet did we all honor him as our President and verily the man has an infectious smile. We did like him mightily.

Ye Snooper didst walk amongst the crowds gathered here to see him and did see many familiar faces of friends who live on the new lands and who are adding every day to Nyssa's growth and prosperity. We do wish we might see more of them.

Also didst see upon Via de la Presidente many of our towns women in new and smart autumn costumes. Hats and shoes and new fall gowns.

Also didst stop in a moment to chat with "Butch" at the Nyssa Packing Company and did learn from him that there had been much and special is made in his freezerium that the Great Man's train might be restocked. Also there did learn that lamb is now at its best and Butch doest carry a fine supply of skinned wooles.

Then didst amble into Mr. Barney Wilson's grocery to see what new green vegetables were keeping fresh and fit under the water sprayer there and did find many toothsome ones. But especially nice the lettuce was, and we thought how gay a salad of it wouldst look with some grated carrots in a prepared dressing.

These coldish days do make ones thoughts turn to Christmas and do warn one of the few shopping days left. Once more ye Snooper warns you to start early. For already there be things that ye will want later, when thy purse has been purged of its contents. At the Nyssa Pharmacy are lovely things for every gift occasion and it would not be a coated pill that ye would be giving either.

Are thy dishes old and art thou wondering from what thy family will eat the fatted turk on Thanksgiving day. Mrs. Johnson at her Variety Store has a full supply and of prices that will please thee.

Art worried about thy bills and doest wish that for one short moment thou couldst forget them. At the New Pix Theatre or your old standby, the Roxy, in Ontario there are shows each night which will turn the corner of thy mouth upwards and others to carry you deep into the land of make believe so that when thou hast seen them there will be a song in your heart again.

Didst step into The Cash Grocery to welcome its smiling manager Jimmy Daelhausen back and he did lead me to a stand all filled with sweetcakes, wrapped in cellophane. They were of many shapes and sizes. Just the thing to keep on thy shelf for an unexpected guest.

Hast thy spouse's pate assumed a hirstiness that appals thee. I say unto you sistern, send him to see Mr. Miner at his tonsorial parlors and he will return unto thee freshened and trim as on thy nuptial day and thou mayest present him to thy family again without apology.

Do thy feet hurt thee and doest perchance thy stride does resemble a duck. It may be so that thy heels are run over and thy soles have worn thin. Seek ye out the Nyssa Shoe Shop and there they will return them to thee as good as new.

Didst have you arise in the cold gray dawn and fire up the old range and lose thy sweet temper when the heathenish thing did sputter and smoke and thou didst look forward to a long, long winter of such mornings, and the soot to clean 'n' everything. Then list to this good news. The Idaho Power have reduced their rates so that the most frugal of us may well consider allowing ourselves to go modern in our kitchens and put in all the new electrical devices that most accepted of household economist advise. What could be more cheering than a shining new electrical water heater and range to match in a pure white kitchen and gay plaid gingham curtains at the window. So easy on the old lumbar muscles too, when it comes to cleaning.

What man is there amongst us now whose thots are not on guns.

Do not say him "nay." Instead send him with a smile to Mr. Brown at the Baldrige Implement Company. He has there some guns that be practically fool proof and thou canst run thy better half loose that he may bring home the rabbit skin—or something!

Deest a loneliness come over thee on Saturday afternoon and thou canst not find the better half any way. Spruce up. Go down to Mr. Fox's Sale Yard and sign his register book there. Then most likely thou wilt find the lost and strayed ahead of you but ye'll not mind if perchance thy name is drawn for a fine prize.

Ye Snoopers thoughts has oft turned to mine meat these autumn days, we did lack those things required to make the big hunks into little minces. So did take my troubles into Mr. Boydell at Eder's Hardware and he did show all the implements that I could possibly use and many others that spurred on to reach perfection in cooking. With all those gadgets I do have hope.

Hast compay ever dropped upon thee late at night and thou didst have a sneaking hunch that wouldst doubt thy hospitality if thou didst let them depart unfed. Faint not. Be ye fresh and keep on thy shelf some fresh cakes and doughnuts that those McClure boys do turn out at their bakery.

Are thy slumbers disturbed these nights with the worry that the radiator in Elizabeth parked out in cold may have frozen some mornning and the meal-check getter be late for work thereby. At Art Norco's Service Station or at the Powell garage across the way they do dispense some liquids which do resist these wintry wind and will cause Elizabeth to dash each morning without protest.

Hast thine husband sworn all summer long at the water in those ditches? The pump doesn't lift, the blankety blank thing is no good. Tell him that there is a place in Parma. The Parma Water Lifter Company, which can fix all these wrongs, then thy ears will no longer be offended and thine husband will bless thee.

Shop in Nyssa with Journal Advertisers and ye'll not waste time and gas going farther.
