TOMATOES

By The Ton!

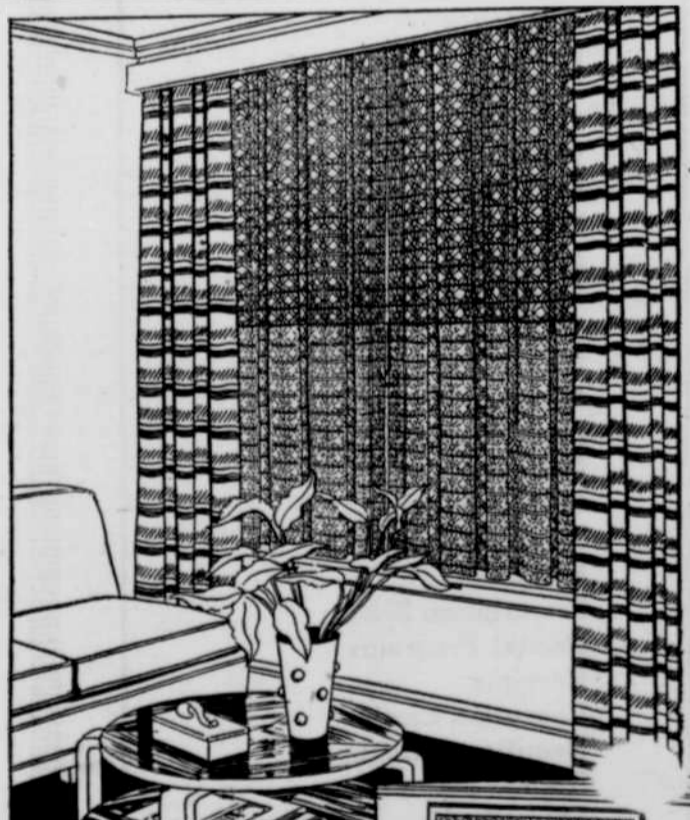

MORE tomatoes than any other vegetable are canned in this country today. The annual value of our tomato crop is estimated at more than $50,000,000 of which approximately $20,000,000 is spent for tomatoes by canners and manufacturers. Besides being canned, tomatoes are manufactured into soups, purées, catsups and tomato juice. From 1,000,000 to 1,250,000 tons are grown annually for the canners and manufacturers!

There is a very good reason for this. And that is that modern cooking minus tomatoes would be very much like the play of Hamlet with Hamlet left out. Not that there is anything so dramatic or heroic about the part the tomato plays in modern cooking, but as a general utility man he just simply can't be left out. What would the following recipes taste like, for instance, without the tomatoes?

Tomatoes Give the Tone
Tomato Fritters: Beat one egg slightly, add two cups canned tomatoes and one and a third cups crushed cracker crumbs, and season with salt and pepper. Drop from spoon into plenty of hot fat in a skillet. Brown on one side, turn and brown on the other side. Drain on brown paper. Makes about twelve small fritters.

Meat Loaf with Tomatoes: Add one small finely chopped onion, one teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon pepper, one teaspoon sage and one-half cup dry bread crumbs to one pound of chopped beef. Add one beaten egg. Mix well together and pile in a rounded mound in the center of a flat baking dish. Pour over one cup canned tomatoes and bake in a hot 400 degree oven for about forty-five minutes, basting occasionally with the tomatoes. Serves four.

Let New Lace Net Curtains Glamourize Your Windows

WINDOWS are really the eyes of our homes. So the smarter we are about making them up and the prettier the beauty-treatment we give them, the more charming our homes will look.

This fall we need to give more attention to our windows than we have for many a season. Because there's a great vogue for more softness, with a grand dash of charm, in all home decoration. And windows come in for a good share of this beautifying.

Lace net curtains, in the new American designs and weaves, have loads of charm and softness. Because they are in open, lace weaves, they make an attractive picture as they fall in graceful folds over the window panes. At the same time, they let light and air come into the room right through their open meshes, really giving you curtain-filtered sunshine. And the inside of your home isn't an open book to anyone passing by your windows because the curtains act as a sheer veil between you and the outdoors.

This fall you can find one lace net curtain after another in different designs and textures to go with the home you have, or to suit your special tastes, and to suit your pocketbook, too. They are excellently tailored to make your windows look as if they had curtains made to order for them, and they look equally well over window shades or Venetian blinds. Some of them have adjustable-tops—you can hang them without sewing a stitch for the heading.

If you want to combine draperies with the curtains, you can find many drapery styles that look well with the curtains. The sketch shows a window in a Modern living room with the curtains and the draperies harmonizing, both having horizontal lines that are in tune with each other. The smaller sketch shows how the plainness of French doors can be changed to prettiness—by using lace net curtains or lace net, by the yard, gathered on rods above and below the window panes.
