Things About Nyssa's Shops

Up betimes and at our chore Which did lead us first to the cities post office. Verily, Sistern, we did think it was the town hall. So many of the stronger sex had gathered there to collect our mail, to pause, to pass the time of day and to give and get the latest news and chat-

We did think what a grand place for a damsel who was minded to collect unto herself a husband for better or worse. For while the most among them be bendicts tried and proven true, for lo, these many years, still there were in the midst proving ownership and paying costs of these several presentable males as provided by law. Leslie W. Young who have yet escaped the nuptial noose. Our gaze dids't fall upon the town's youngest attorney, that tall and neatly set up Carl Coad and we did think how nicely some wise virgin could halter break him.

Then there was that Ed Dilly of the Idaho Power and Electric, brown eyed and of handsome mien. Be not fooled, ye young ones, he is not too bashful and too long has he roamed foot loose and fancy free. Fie upon you, little sistern, ere long they will become halter shy and ye- ye will be old maids. These be only two but our City does provide many thers of various sizes and shapes. Also this day Mr. Williard Jack-President had come and gone and he he could again call both his time and his soul his own he did learn that he still had a lumber yard frc. whence they do dispense coal and that there is no order so small nor so large that they cannot fill. And that this also is true of building needs of all kinds.

Speaking again of building needs who does fine wiring, Harry Sales.

Give him a chance at your next job. Ah, verily, verily, tis window washing and house cleaning time again and without care thy hands will come cut of it looking like two well smoked hams. But if thou wilt but get thee some of those household rubber gloves that Mrs. Johnson is selling at the Variety Store, then ye will fool'em at the next bridge game.

Too, this be the time to look forward to slippery roads and you will be wondering how much longer the "Old Heap's' 'tires will hold out. See Eddie at the O.K. Tire Shop, he fixes them up.

Again there be several gas dispensaries in Nyssa, but none better than Art Norcott at Third and Main or his cotemporaries at the Powell Service across the street, and there they do sell automobile accessories of every sort so that thou may feel safe to drive in rain or shine.

Ye Snooper does hate to harp upon one subject but at Eders we did see again that fine Norge heater. But if thy purse feels meek and flat there is another less expensive that will warm thy domicile in godly fashion.

And have ye perchance heard that the Amalgamated Sugar Company is to build a fine new factory in our town and that it is up to us to use bigger and better beet sugar.
