Advice To The Road-Worn

I hate poets. Poetry has the same coats and woolen dresses that not effect on me as though someone were filing my teeth with a wood

> I AM ACTUALLY TURNING IN-TO A POET! Yes sir, I'd rather be a murderer or a ping pong player player.

> Imagine my horror the other morning when they started me up and my differential sounded like this: "Rinkle-tinkle-crash- clink." That wouldn't have been so bad, mind you, if my pistons hadn't taken up the chorus with "Rumble bumble-gurgle plink."

What on earth shall I do? Your terrified friend, Squeaky Klutch.

Dear Squeaky Klutdh

We don't like poetry, either. Come on in, and we'll change that "Rumble-bumble-gurgle-plunk." you won't have any trouble, because anybody knows plunk doesn't rime with clink.
