FARM ACCIDENTS—

ROM a pamphlet recently issued by the Department of Commerce, comes some very astonishing figures on the number of people killed each year from accidents happening on

On an average there are 15,000 people who lose their lives from falls; over 6,000 are permanently disabled; while something like 900,000 suffer temporary disability due to falls. Leading the list of causes are falls from ladders, haymows, haystacks, windmills, and roofs.

Now that the most of our harvesting is over and the farmer is blessed with a little time on his hands, it may be well to make a tour of inspection about the farm, and repairs made where

Here are a few suggestions that may be of some benefit. Keep ladders in a dry place so that they will not rot. Inspect the rungs for dry rot. Construct rails around haymow ladders. When jacking up tractors, keep blocks under the wheels so that if the jack slips you will not be harmed. When working around power driven machinery, do not have on any loose clothing (such as neckties, outside jackets, etc.) that may become entangled in flywheels or cogs, or belt driven machinery. Where stationary machinery is in use have all gears and belts enclosed, so that if anyone falls near them, they will not be drawn into the machinery.

PERHAPS WE WILL GET THE REAL STORY-

THIS is the first time, as far as we can ascer-▲ tain that the federal government has really made an effort to find out just how many persons there are in the United States that are unemployed.

It is up to those to whom the cards are delivered to fill them out with the greatest of care

It is our contention that the need for this census has been long standing. In the past the Department of Labor would issue one statement and the A. F. of L. another, concerning the number of people unemployed. The result was that you could take your choice of figures and believe only that which suited your fancy. With the inauguration of this current unemployed census, everyone in the country is taking part and it is a safe conjecture that a true figure will be arrived

The important thing for all of us to do now is to fill out the cards and get them into the post office as soon as possible. The postoffice department is faced with a herculean task and the least that we can do is to be prompt.

LET'S GET OUT OF THE WOODS-

N YSSA is growing, of that there can be no dispute. But when you want to direct a stranger to a particular house in the city it has to be done by the usual formula—go down to so and so's and turn north and go so many blocks and then turn at the white house.

Let's get out of the woods, as a city, and get our street signs up and every house numbered. The citizens of Nyssa cannot expect the council and mayor to do this unless the demand comes for such a program. Strangers within our city will feel more at home if they can find their way around without asking a dozen or more times for directions to a person's home or place of busi-

The cost of such a venture is small compared with the dressing up it will give the city's appearance.

HAS IT HELPED—

The recent hue and cry that went up from the gamblers in Wall Street to lower the 'margin' requirements does not seem to have stopped the nose dive that the price of stocks took a few weeks back.

It seems hard to fathom the logic of making it easier for gamblers in stocks, to continue their practice of buying on margin and at the same time expect them to quit gambling. About all that such a requirement does is, to our mind, to make it that much easier for buyers to buy stock, which later can be dumped or used to manipulate the market to suit themselves.

Ministers or others interested in church publicity are invited to use the columns of the Journal to carry important messages and notices to their congregations. Please try to get your copy in by Tuesday of each week.

Well did Peter know, as one the greatness of God is humanly which must disappear whenever hope that, evenutually, it may bereliance on divine power.

In all ages and places devout thinkers have perceived that infinite causation is at work in man's behalf. The acme of spiritual perception, however, was achieved by Christ Jesus, whose loyalty to God, good, as the only cause, enabled him to refute thoroughly the materialistic belief that the supposed opposite of good is real. He proved the greatness of God and exposed the illusory character of evil.

Christian Science teaches this vital Christianity, and appeals tenderly to all men to exchange finite, material beliefs about causation and power for the adepower of God. On page 13 of the la. Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to Scriptures," Baker Eddy writes: "If we pray to God as a corporeal person, She was a great success, financially this will prevent us from relinquish- if not artistically, for some million ing the human doubts and fears persons each handed over a dime to which attend such a belief, and so see the painting of the well-upholwe cannot grasp the wonders stered and scantily-draped siren. wrought by infinite, incorporeal Love, to whom all things are possible. Because of human ignorance of the divine Principle, Love, the Father of all is represented as a corporeal creator; hence men recognize incorporeal existence."
