Utilities Commissioner Gives Decision On Carriers

Union or Non-Union No Reason For Halting Service.

SALEM, ORE.—Common carriers operating in Oregon must serve union and non-union patrons alike, Utilities Commissioner N. G. Wallace ruled in an order this week requiring two truck lines to deliver freight to a Salem restaurant which was being picketed by the Culinary Workers union.

Picket Lines No Barrier

Drivers for the truck lines had refused to pass the picket lines of the affiliate union. Commissioner Wallace declared that the carriers had no right to recognize picket lines where no strikes or riot conditions existed and the safety of the driver had not been menaced.

Governor Refuses Comment

The order of the utilities commissioner is expected to have far-reaching results and probably to result in a "showdown" as between the forces of organized labor and constituted authority in Oregon.

While Governor Martin refused to comment on the order or to indicate what his attitude might be in the event the carriers refuse to obey the utility commissioner's order he has often expressed the opinion that all men should be protected in their right to work and that he stood ready to throw the entire force of the state back of any attempt to preserve law and order.

Finished Fight

Unless the Culinary Workers union lift their ban as applied to delivery of freight a fight to the finish between the state as represented by its duly elected and appointed officials and organized labor is predicted.

Oregon Farm Leaders Appointed on State Committee.

Secretary Wallace has announced appointment of the Oregon State Farm Security Advisory committee to aid in administration of the Bankhead-Jones farm tenant act, according to Walter A. Duffy, regional director, Portland.

Mrs. Dick Tensen Honored

Mrs. Dick Tensen has been appointed by secretary of Agriculture Wallace as representative from Malheur county to sit on the State Farm Security advisory Board for farm tenant allocation funds. This is a real honor to Mrs. Tensen and to our city as there are only nine members for the whole state and Mrs. Tensen is the only woman to receive an appointment.

She is however unusually well equipped to represent us, as she has a wide experience in relief work and other rehabilitation activities during the last few years.

Mrs. Tensen says that the exact time and place for the first meeting has not yet been definitely decided but it will doubtless be on the coast and soon.

Prominent farmers and agricultural leaders named on the committee of nine are:

A. S. V. Carpenter, chairman, Medford, orchardist and farm bureau member.

Frank L. Ballard, Corvallis, vice-director, agricultural extension service, Oregon State College.

Mrs. Dick Tensen, Nyssa, member Malheur county advisory committee.

A. R. Shumway, Milton, president, North Pacific Grain Growers, Inc., Nord Grange member.

Fred Entermille, Baker, livestock representative and Farm Bureau member.

Ray Jenkins, Toledo, dairyman.

A. C. Heymans, Albany, farmer and Commonwealth federation.

Marshall Dana, Portland, former chairman Pacific Northwest Regional planning commission, associate editor The Journal, and prominent in rural and land use planning activities.

Counties to Be Selected

"One of the first tasks confronting the state committee in Oregon will be selection of counties where the program for purchase of farms by qualified tenant farmers will be initiated this year," Duffy said. "While only 10 to 15 farm purchase loans can be made in the state this year, appropriations authorized in the tenant act provide for considerable expansion of the program during the next two years.

"Appointment of the state advisory committee is a further step in making the Farm Security program strictly a farmer's program and giving farmers a prominent part in its administration and policies.

County Committees to Pass on Applications.

"The state committee will advise the Secretary of Agriculture in selection of county committees of local farmers to be set up in counties approved for initiation of the tenant farm purchase program. The county committees of three will in turn examine applications, appraise farms applicants propose to purchase, and recommend applicants who have character, ability and experience deemed necessary for successful farm ownership."

Clifford L. Smith, Corvallis, assistant regional rehabilitation director and State director for Oregon, will serve as executive secretary of the state committee. The committee representative of leading farm interests and sections, will serve voluntarily in aiding to make administration of the new loan program as effective as available funds permit and serve in an advisory capacity to the program in general.

THANKSGIVING SERMON OF THE PSALMS

The heavens declare the glory of God; and the firmament sheweth his handwork.

The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want. He maketh me to lie down in green pastures; he leadeth me beside the still waters. He restoreth my soul; he leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for his name's sake.

Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil, for thou art with me; thy rod and thy staff they comfort me.

Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies; thou anointest my head with oil; my cup runneth over.

Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life; and I will dwell in the house of the Lord forever.

O, come let us make a joyful noise to the rock of our salvation.

Let us come before his presence with Thanksgiving, and make a joyful noise unto him with psalms.

Corn Show Entry List Growing

Local Branch Bank Has Entry Blanks.

Requests for entry blanks for the first Oregon statewide Corn Show were this week being received in increasing numbers by G. J. Mitchell, manager of the Nyssa Branch of The First National Bank of Portland from corn producers in this community. At the same time many exhibitors from Malheur county were being sent directly to the mezzanine of the Public Market in Portland where the competition among corn growers will take place November 29 to December 4.

Corn Authorities to Talk

According to Mr. Mitchell a complete educational program giving information on every phase of the corn industry has been planned to supplement the show. Moving pictures with sound from the DuPont company and talks by noted corn authorities are scheduled in the market auditorium every afternoon during the exhibit.

"This project sponsored by The First National Bank of Portland is expected to stimulate the growth of corn in Oregon, many sections of which are natural locations for production of the grain," he said. "It is also an opportunity to find which parts of the state harvest the best yellow ears."

Sweepstakes Trophy

Exhibits, open to all growers in the state, are limited to ten ears of yellow corn of this season's harvest. Many prizes in open and 4-H club classes are offered by the bank. There is no entry fee.

A silver trophy donated by Claude I. Searnsous, president of the Loggers and Contractors Machinery company, Portland, will go to the sweepstakes winner.

Gives Corn Raising Possibilities

Citing the six to eight million dollar import of grain corn to the Northwest annually, Searnsous said, "The unfortunate situation in this case is that all this money goes east. Would it not keep this money prosperity of the Oregon farmer by at home to contribute more to the building this great corn show into such an outstanding event that we could produce not only the corn we need ourselves, but eventually compete with the great corn-growing states?"

Entry blanks are still available at the Nyssa Branch, or directly from the Portland Chamber of Commerce. All exhibits must be received by Sunday, November 28.
