You're Entitled To a BARGAIN, Too!

You're entitled to take advantage of a bargain that so many of your friends and neighbors are now enjoying the exceptionally low electric rate that you would earn as you increase your use of electric service.

The rates you pay for electricity drop as you use more - much like the price of canned foods is less in dozen lots than it is by the single can.

So, your rates "step down" for each additional quantity of kilowatt hours you use.

And in the same way, if you stop using an appliance -an electric range or your lights or your water heater - the saving you make is on the lowest rate. And you lose the best part of your bargain in electric

The persons we serve, being smart buyers, use more electric service than almost any other group in the United States. In that way, they reduce their average ratesand enjoy electricity at a cost that is among the lowest in the nation.
