Advice To The Road-Worn

E. W. PRUYN, Auto Repairing Nyssa, Oregon

Gentlemen: I wouldn't give two whoops in Hades for your whole garage, tools and all. You don't know your business, and even if you did I wouldn't give you credit. And I'll tell you why.

Last week you insulted, disgraced, outraged and slapped me. I've only been driven 28,961.3 miles and you come out brazenly and say a good stiff overhauling wouldn't do me any harm, just because I have a few minor squeaks and knocks. Listen, you. Swallow that statement right now, or I'll come in next week and backfire in your face.

Outragedly yours,
Little Wobblewheels

Dear Little Wobblewheels: All right. We're squelched. Go ahead and fall to pieces if you want to. We should have known better than to try to advise so conceited a car as you. Just the same, you're in no safe condition for backfiring, and you'd better be careful.

Yours truly,
E. W. PRUYN, Auto Repairing
