In loving faithfulness he served those he loved and never shirked the task he was trained to do.

Legion Feed—
There was a large turnout to the first meeting and social evening of the American Legion of the New Year given at the Legion hall last Thursday with several new members admitted to the Legion and to the Ladies Auxiliary. After the regular business had been disposed a regular army stew was served which had been expertly cooked by Commander Harry Russel. Past commander Fred Osterkamp and Archie Howel. Many laments were heard because of the absent of mess kits, but the ladies opined that they still liked plates.

You are headed in the right direction if you support your grocer by buying Golden West Pancake Flour, but if you prefer breakfast mush instead, tell him the White Down Cereal is the best of all. He has it. Get started right, then keep going. This friendly advice is offered by the Nyssa Milling Company. They will grind grain for the farmers, also or make their wheat in to good flour. They know how.—Adv.

ECONOMIC CONFERENCE; FOUR COMMITTEES APPOINTED
Meetings of advance committees which are preparing material for the forthcoming Malheur County farm economic conference, to be held in February, are resulting in the accumulation of many important facts and figures regarding the present trends and future outlook for agriculture in this county, reports R. G. Larson, county agent. The advance work for the conference is being handled through four committees this year, which are considering land use, crop production, and farm home and rural life. The material being gathered by these committees will be submitted to the general conference for a full day's consideration, at the conclusion of which reports and recommendations will be adopted.

Similar meetings to the one being held in Malheur County are scheduled for every county in the state this winter. These are being sponsored by the extension service at Oregon State College at the request of farmers and farm organizations, in order to review and add to, if necessary, the findings of previous conferences of this nature. The forthcoming conference is to be a "family affair," emphasizes County Agent Larson, the idea being that the future welfare of the farm home is directly dependent on the economic success of the farm itself, and that plans for the farm and home should be made together. Chairmen of the various committees are as follows: General conference, P. Tensen, Nyssa; Farm and Home Life, Mrs. C. E. Charles, Vale; Land Use Harry Wells, Vale; Farm Crops Ray Garrison, Jamieson; Livenlock, Fred Trenkel, Ontario. Committee members are being drawn from all parts of Malheur County.
