SALEM, Ore.—Any doubt as to Governor Martin's attitude toward a second term were set at rest this week by the appearance of buttons bearing the governor's picture and the slogan, "Reelect Governor Martin." While the governor has not publicly proclaimed his candidacy he did admit to newspapermen that he "would like to remain governor as long as possible." Supporters of the governor feel that his chances for the Democratic nomination have been substantially increased by the dissent in the ranks of the anti-administration forces while reports from over the state indicate that Martin stock has risen several points on the strength of the recent round-up of labor gangsters.

Secretary of State Earl Snell has promised the suspense that has centered around his political intentions with a statement before this week is ended—probably for Sunday morning release. Speculation around the state house centers on two guesses: that Snell will either be a candidate for a second term in his present office or that he will make a try for the republican nomination for United States senator, leaving the gubernatorial field open for some other candidate, probably State Treasurer Holman who appears to be the best bet the Republicans have for that position.

State Sanitary Authority
A proposal to set up a state sanitary authority is contained in an initiative measure preliminary copies of which were filed with Secretary of State Snell this week. The measure is sponsored by the Stream Purification League of Oregon of which State Treasurer Rufus Holman is president; Mrs. Hal D. Patton of Salem, vice-president, and Senator Byron G. Carney of Milwaukie, chairman of the committee on legislation. The proposed sanitary authority would consist of the state health officer, state engineer, chairman of the state fish commission and three members to be appointed by the governor, one from each Congressional district. If sufficient signatures are secured to the petition the measure will be on the November ballot.

National Guard Gets Honors
The Marshfield, Cottage Grove, Ashland and Klamath Falls units of the 249th Coast Artillery corps have been given "excellent" rating by the war department according to information received by Major General George A. White. The rating was based upon the work done by these batteries in big gun firing at Fort Stevens during the annual maneuvers last June.

Building for State Fair Grounds
Improvements scheduled for the State Fair grounds this year include a new administration building, 40 by 100 feet in size, to be located at the west entrance. The building which will replace the one razed a few years ago will be erected as a WPA project.

Benefit Payments
Social security payments to Oregon beneficiaries during January set a new high record. Checks in payment of assistance to the aged, persons on relief, blind and dependent children clearing through the state treasury department during the first ten days of February aggregated $288,425.37. State Treasurer Holman reported.

Trucks and Buses
A total of 10,427 trucks and busses operating in Oregon during 1937 paid a total of $1,094,249 in fees to the public utilities commission, according to a report by N. G. Wallace, utilities commissioner. Gross revenues of trucks and busses operating under state permits aggregated $4,903,484 for the year, Wallace reported.

Overhaul Tax System
Oregon's tax system is in need of a complete overhauling, Governor Martin declared in an address before a group of real estate men at Salem last week. The governor did not point out any specific reforms he might have in mind for the tax system but pointed out that an interim commission created by the last legislature was now at work on that problem.

More Politics
Decision of Secretary of State Snell to certify a short term United States senatorship on the November ballot is expected to bring out a number of candidates for this post. Snell's decision was based upon the oral opinion by Attorney General Van Winkle reiterating an old opinion given in 1918 holding that senators appointed by the governor to fill a vacancy held office only until the date of the general election. The short term senator will draw pay from November 8 until January 31 in spite of the fact that he will have no duties to perform unless Congress should meet in special session.

And Still More
In spite of emphatic denials by Utilities Commissioner Wallace that a purge of Republican employees is pending in his department rumors of a pending shake-up in the utilities organization exist. These rumors center largely around the head of E. A. Landis, supervisor of the motor vehicle division, a republican who was brought into the organization by Frank C. McColloch when he took over the department at the time of the change in the state administration in 1935. It is known that a number of "deserving" Democrats have been looking with longing eyes at Landis' job which is regarded as a particularly juicy plum. Should Landis be removed, however, it will be for some good cause other than political expediency under the announced policy of Commissioner Wallace.

Bank Deposits Down
Bank deposits in Oregon are once more on a pre-depression level, according to Mark Skinner, state superintendent of banks. Deposits in all banks in the state, as of December 31, totalled $306,434,135.28 compared to the all-time high record of $307,861,645 reached at the time of the December 31, 1928, call. In the meantime, however, there has been a material shrinkage in the number of state banks which decreased from 149 in 1928 to 49 at the time of the last call. Liquidations, consolidations and purchase by national banks accounts for the loss of the 100 state banks.

Flax Seed Report
Oregon flax growers grossed an average of $44.80 an acre on their 1937 crop. L. L. Laws, manager of the state flax plant told Governor Martin in a report this week. Flax yields in the Willamette valley last year averaged 1.6 tons to the acre.

Farm Labor
An early spring with a big demand for seasonal labor in Oregon is predicted by John E. Cooter, farm placement director for the state employment service. Cooter urges farmers to avail themselves of the free employment service in meeting their needs for labor.

Jobless Insurance
Approximately 35 per cent of the more than 50,000 jobless workers who have filed claims for unemployment insurance are found to be ineligible for unemployment benefits according to D. A. Bulmore, administrator for the commission. Many of these applicants are found to have been farm workers or domestics in private homes who are not eligible to insurance, or seasonal workers whose earnings during the last employment year were not sufficient to entitle them to benefits.

FACTS FOR DRIVERS
By EARL SNELL, Secretary of State

Editors note: Traffic questions submitted to this newspaper will be answered by the Secretary of State or through this column.

HOW CAN I FIND OUT WHEN AND WHERE TO TAKE THE TEST FOR A LICENSE?
State driving license examiners make regular scheduled visits to every important town in Oregon. Schedules of these visits are sent out to an official in each town visited, and county sheriffs are also supplied with schedules. You may check up on the schedule either through one of these sources or by writing directly to Secretary of State Earl Snell in Salem. Secretary Snell will also be glad to furnish you with a copy of the Operators Manual, which will give you the information necessary for passing the written examination prior to the driving test.

MUST I TAKE A TEST FOR A DRIVER'S LICENSE?

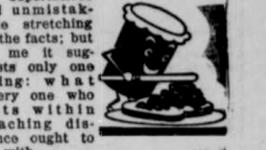

The only persons exempted from taking an examination for a driver's license are those who hold or have previously held a license in this state, are under 70 years of age and have no physical or other disability which might impair their driving capacity. Once the examination has been passed, the license may be renewed every two years without examination, except that persons over 70 must pass the vision and driving test each time they make application for renewal.

Scene of Notorious Massacre

Awatovi, Arizona, was the scene of one of the most notorious massacres of the Southwest. The tiny village was one of the first Hopi centers encountered by Coronado's men in their march of 1540. The Hopi and the white men were close friends until 1680 when the Indians joined their pueblo neighbors and ejected the Spaniards. The massacre was detonated, most authorities agree, when the people of Awatovi welcomed the Spaniards back several years later in defiance of their red brothers.

Concord Grape Butter
4 1/2 cups (2 1/2 lbs.) pulp; 7 cups (3 lbs.) sugar; 1/2 bottle fruit pectin.
To prepare fruit, stem about 5 pounds fully ripe grapes and crush thoroughly. Add 1/2 cup water, bring to a boil, cover, and simmer 5 minutes. Separate juice from pulp by placing hot fruit in 2-quart sieve. Run enough juice through a double layer of cheesecloth held in a small sieve to obtain 4 cups of strained juice; use for making grape jelly or grape juice. Rub grapes, from which juice has drained, through sieve to obtain pulp.
Measure sugar and prepared pulp into large kettle, filling up last cup with excess juice or water if necessary. Mix well and bring to a full rolling boil over hottest fire. Stir constantly before and while boiling. Boil hard 1 minute. Remove from fire and stir in bottled fruit pectin. Pour quickly. Paraffin hot grape butter at once. Makes about 11 glasses (6 fluid ounces each).
