

Ye Snooper's Column

Things About Nyssa's Shops

Now we did think that we had received a full and complete education in the men and deportment of District Attorneys having seen via the Cinema route myriads of them portrayed thereon these last few years. Usually they be tall and hungry looking with a beak of a nose and eyes with a wolfish glare. Or else they were of squirrely jowl with a paunch midships and eyes like bleary beads.

Imagine our consternation when the U. S. D. A. from Portland, Mr. Carl Donagh, stepped into our menage last week to pay his respects to the fourth estate as represented here in Nyssa and to reaffirm that he had his clear blue eyes on a seat in the United States Senate. For he did be none of these. Shortish he be, with a red gold hair that should make any thirteenth blonde feel the prick of the green eyed monster, eyes that be blue but with never a trace of a glare, and some how didst make us believe there must be a bit of Irish humor not far behind, with a handclasp that was firm and didst bespeak of friendliness and milk of human kindness. But be not deceived, his chin is there to remind one that with him there is no tampering nor dilly dalling, for it be square and doest lend a ruggedness to his entire physiognomy. Honest and human and fairminded, we'd say but not easily deviated from the way that seems to him best. We didst like him and that right well, and didst all but choke as we shook his hand and at the same time tried to hide our grasp, of amazement at the difference between him and our preconceived movie instructed idea of the latest in D. A. Construction.

From our window we do watch the men at work on the new city hall. First the hole in the ground that is to be a basement, then the walls and so on until it be completed. Now we do know that some there be that are for it and some there be that art against it. But so must it ever be with every thing and we do feel personally that it be a step better than that which we now have and doest prove to an incoming populace that we as citizens do have a faith in our community and art willing to prove it to the best of our ability and if this new one be best that we can afford now, it will also suffice for our present needs and when it no longer does that then there will be a way to enlarge or build anew. So we do, watch it as it rises higher each day with a gladness, for it means progress for our city.

There hast left us, one who for most the working years of her life didst spend them here in this office or in another owned before by our father and, who in her time didst give the best she had to her work, we didst think how important to the business are those who labor there. Years of work in one place mean more than the work of ones hands. There must be loyalty and honor and unselfishness for without these three no laborer be worth his hire. Like any great game, good business is not built upon the ability of one individual but upon the faithfulness and industry of every individual who be a part of it. The manager like the star player may carry the ball over the line but it is the team work behind which makes this possible.

And so it is with regret that we say "Good Bye" to Edna, but we also wish her success in her new place and larger field. She deserves it and earned it.

Art among the myriads which got scorched in the bank failures of a few years ago and now will have naught to do with any of them. Well thou doest not need to be afraid, for here in Nyssa ours be a branch of a long established chain that stood right well the shock of that great financial slide and yet has spent all its energy towards the growth and betterment of the communities it serves. It is of course the Nyssa Branch of the First National Bank of Portland. Thou canst truly trust thy moneys with them and also thou canst consult them about thy money problems.

Now Spring be here, rain or no rain, and with it comes that urge to renew our wardrobes, and a longing for something new and different to top our craniums. And this spring there be a wide variety of everything in the way of styles so that every Eves daughter canst look her best. And at the Golden Rule we didst see a fine supply of new spring frocks. Gay and colorful to scare away Old Man Gloom on the gloomiest day.

And if it be Easter that be troubling thee and the egg dying job, do a hop skip to the Nyssa Pharmacy for there they have all manner of new Easter accoutrements.

And we have told thee ere this of the fine supply of kodaks and picture supplies that Omer Adkinson doest carry at the Owyhee Drug store, so if thou hast not yet learned the joy of catching spring art he: loveliest then thou doest have a treat in store for thee. But first thou must have the best in camera films and so forth and Omer be the man that has them.

A lovely picture may be a joy at all times and food for the soul but it also be poor food for an empty stomach. But Barney Wilson hast that problem all settled for thee for at his grocery store thou mayest fill thy larder with food fit for thy tummy and thy poke as well.

We didst this past week succumb to the lures of a new waffle iron which the Idaho Power company doest display so temptingly and verily we have not regretted it. For we do see where we will save our selves much time, moneys and worry. For when company comes and we be found wanting in cupboard hospitality we can just put on the peck, hook up this new iron where on we can first crisp some bacon and then brown the waffles to kings taste and with a dab of butter and a dash of syrup we have prepared a feast. And a merry time it is too for those who sit about the table while their food be cooking in front of them. For breakfast too and to make especially dessert for dinner this same little cooker do be most handy.

And if thou dost be in doubt about the purchase of that bacon thou wilt never go wrong nor make a wry mouth if it be purchased at the Nyssa Packing company. There thou canst get it in dime lots or by the side, but always it is good. Aye even the best.

But what good be a waffle iron or bacon or anything if thou doest have no place to put them. Well if this be thy fix see the man Glasgow or his representative Don at the Glasgow Track and dicker with them for a homeste.

Then get thee busy and build what thou canst now afford thereon, and from there it may someday grow to be a mansion. At least thou wilt have made the first step. Thou hast heard the old Chinese proverb that the way to start a thousand mile journey be to take the first step.

We do speak to thee so often of that insurance, but it only be because we would not have thee a loser and regret thy procrastination in this thing. Disaster and accident do ever arrive unannounced and if we have not prepared first there be no easement for us. So now today get thee to see Frank Morgan at his office and there they will tell thee the many things that thou canst insure to protect thee and thine from too great a loss and oft at prices that pleasantly surprise thee.

mart in the Wilson building doest also traffic in insurance as well as lands and homes—The Nyssa Realty Co., too.

We didst drive through the country this past week end and there didst spy many new and fine mansions built for Sir Cock and his duchess and their broods. But a fine home and poor food will never make brave and strong chickens. However at the Al Thompson feed yard they do have special mash which ist bound to make even the most indolent of the flock lay like a prize biddy.

Tis truly tractor time for on this same ride of which we speak we counted ten tractors to one team of Dobbins. And if it be one of these babies that thy John be needing and longing for, tell him to load up the family and all drive in and take a look see at the John Deere which Wes Browne doest sell at the Baldridge Implement company store on Main street. They do say that they be hard to beat in performance and endurance.

Then when thou hast signed the check and John hast ridden the thing home thou wilt become more than ever fuel conscious. There be some good and some not so good but the kind that Bert and Charlie do sell at their gasoline mart at Second and Main be of the best.

And Art Norcott at Second and Main doest also barter in automotive consumption needs and doest carry those handy Shell products of every sort to make the drivers life an easier and merrier one. carry those dandy Shell products from a small and puny beginning into a healthy and still growing institution where buyer canst meet seller and each get or give a fair price for his wares. And Walter Fox and Bert Anderson do be the men behind the guns who have put it over and do ever try to improve it to the betterment of every one.

Shop in Nyssa and thou wilt not waste thy time and thy gas going farther.
