REGISTRATION CLOSES APRIL 18

First Beauty Competition
The first beauty competition in history is supposed to have taken place in 1184 B. C., when Paris awarded the prize—a golden apple—to the goddess Venus, and the Trojan war was the result. The next contest, says London Answers Magazine, took place 3,000 years later, and created immense excitement. In the spring of 1888 the little resort of Spa, in Belgium, announced a contest to discover "the most beautiful woman in the world." To enter, all that was necessary was to write a letter to the committee, enclosing a photograph.

Body Buried Eight Times
The body of Paganini (1784-1840), the famous Italian violinist, was buried eight different times. Even as late as 1896, says Collier's Weekly, 56 years after his death, he was exhumed in the Church of the Madonna della Steccata in Parma to prove that his corpse was actually in the casket.

Blood in Man's Body
Physiologists vary somewhat in their estimates of the total quantity of blood in a man's body, but it probably amounts to about one-tenth of the weight of the body. In a man weighing 150 pounds there would be from 12 to 15 pounds of blood.
