

VALLEY VIEW

Gerald Goodfellow might have had a very serious accident the first of last week when the gasoline torch he was using exploded setting his clothing on fire and burning his leg and face. After being laid up for several days he was able to be about in his car Sunday.

Mrs. George Stewart's sister and family of Paris, Kas., are here. They plan to stay two or three weeks visiting and renewing acquaintances. They had lived here for 15 years.

Mrs. Jewel Coate accompanied by Mrs. Amidon were in the neighborhood Thursday getting subscriptions for the Farmer Wife. Part of the money is to be given to the local grange.

Mrs. H. L. Brooks is proud of her strawberry patch and has sold a lot of the crop.

Burl Wyckoff was a Sunday guest of Oscar Brattons.

Sheff White purchased an electric fence last week.

Hogue is planning on starting to thin apples at the orchard this week.

Mrs. Orrissa Fairbanks and her son LaMar returned to Caldwell Thursday after a visit with the H. S. Brooks family.

Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Overstreet and their family visited in Caldwell on Sunday with the S. A. Mendenhall family.

The Forrest Carpenter family spent Sunday evening with the F. G. Carpenters in Nyssa.

have finished planting "High Gear," a variety of cane raised very extensively throughout the southwest, which is especially good both as a grain and a fodder.

Chet Sage stacked his hay last week with four neighbors to help him. All were happy for the opportunity as they had not yet cut theirs and each got a portion for this labor.

Joe Maccarella spent a three day vacation at the Clarence Niccum home.

Mrs. Dale Lindbaugh is visiting with her parents in Emmett but has been confined to her bed with rheumatic fever. She is improving however and hopes to be up this week.

Earl Heaton is also in Emmett for medical attention.

We all agreed that the best part of helping a neighbor thrash or stack his hay is the dinner prepared for the harvest hands and there is nothing so rare as to have Russell Howell at one end of the table and Art Eastman at the other. We certainly enjoyed a good and lively dinner. But it was terrible trying to pitch hay for the first hour after.

It is hard for us who were born on a farm to comprehend the many men raised in a city who never saw milk taken from a cow, nor butter from cream. Never before was on a horses back, never picked up the lines to drive a team. Its easy enough for them to drive a truck but the blamed horses just won't go the right way.

Last winter there was a boy from New Jersey on my place who saw a 300 pound pig and asked what kind of an animal it was, got a big kick out of watching him eat and running his hand over the pigs bristles. One boy last summer went to dig potatoes and they found his rolling them over and cutting them with his shovel and still couldn't find a danged one. Said that if they had been white instead of red he would have recognized them.

Another city fellow who went to the garden for some cucumbers and came back with baby watermelons.

Some of the New York city boys at the CCC camp say that every one back there wants to get to see the west and that they just can't understand why the people here do not care whether they see the city or not.

I think that my calling will always be that of a farmer.

Elza Niccum, Min ad Cora Short, Joe Maccarella, Clarence and Mrs. Niccum and their six children drove over to Notus on Saturday to see some cows and calves pasturing there and to bring one home.

The pasture was good and the cattle doing fine.

They started back across country from Notus to Adrian and every one was enjoying the outing until—the right rear axle broke, they got a farmer to pull them and the old cow five and a half miles to Parma. Arrived at five thirty and were lucky enough to find a mechanic. After so long a time were were on the road again, the highway this time. A wheel on the trailer went bad. They returned to Parma and called out their friend the mechanic again, started on and got within two miles of home when a tire went flat. Arrived at home at 10:30 with every one tired and hungry.

Did I say I was glad that I was a new land farmer? Well every one is happy this morning.

Day in Boise—On Tuesday Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Lawrence, Mr. and Mrs. Jess Lawrence and Doris Graham motored to Boise for the day.
